GRANT TO BUILDING FUND—Wayne Miller, left, from the USS Chemicals Plant, presents Berger Hospital Administrator John Reid, center, with a check for $5,000. The plant had made a pledge earlier this year in that amount to be applied toward the current expansion of the hospital facility. Mayor Frank Barnhill, president of the hospital board of governors looks on as the check is presented. Miller stipulated to the board and the administrator that the donation is made on behalf of the employees of the local plant as well as the United States Steel Foundation Inc. With the contribution made Wednesday night, the hospital building fund has accumulated $31,000 from the local industries.

LUCKY CREWMEN—J. D. Jones (left), head brakeman, and Homer Childers (right), conductor, talk about their "brush with death" in the train derailment on the N&W tracks north of Circleville. Nobody was injured in the accident. For Childers, who retires in 60 days, it was his second close call in a derailment during his 32-year career with the railroad.

Rocky Takes Oath Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller is headed for final congressional confirmation and then a televised inauguration today as the nation's 41st vice president.

The House set aside six hours of debate but was not expected to take that much time before voting on Rockefeller's confirmation.

The inauguration was scheduled an hour later in the Senate chamber, with live television coverage permitted for the first time in the Senate's history.

Rockefeller was to be sworn in by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger. House members, senators, Cabinet members and Supreme Court justices were to be in attendance.

With Rockefeller's swearing-in, the nation for the first time will be under the leadership of both a president and vice president not elected by the voters.

Speaker Carl Albert said there was no doubt that the 435-member House would vote to confirm Rockefeller, although no official nose count had been taken.

President Ford predicted two weeks ago that would be overwhelming, although there might be as many as 100 House votes against Rockefeller. House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. has predicted 120 against.

Rockefeller planned to fly to Washington early in the afternoon with a party of officials including New York Gov. Malcolm Wilson and New York City Mayor Abraham Beame and their wives.

He planned to spend most of the afternoon at his Washington home and then go to the White House to ride with Ford to the Capitol for the inauguration ceremonies.

Rockefeller was to attend a reception tonight for the White House press corps.

The former New York governor's confirmation was cleared Wednesday by the House Rules Committee for final action over last-minute appeals by three House members to delay it until the new Congress convenes in January.

Liberal Democratic Reps. Bella S. Abzug and Elizabeth Holtzman of New York and Jerome R. Waldie of California contended that if Rockefeller is not to be elected by the voters, he should be approved by congressmen most recently elected by them.

The three also contended more investigation is needed of potential conflicts of interest from Rockefeller's wealth, and to determine if his gifts and loans to public officials violated New York law.

Reps. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio and John H. Rousselot of California, conservative Republicans, also urged more investigation.

The Senate already has approved the nomination. The House Judiciary Committee recommended confirmation 26-12 after nine days of hearings, focusing primarily on the conflict-of-interest question.

Watergate Trial Ending

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate cover-up trial is about to hear final arguments from opposing lawyers, the last step before the historic case goes to the jury.

Chief Prosecutor James F. Nease was scheduled to lead off with a summation expected to take at least three hours.

But first, defense attorneys planned today to question Kenneth W. Parkinson, the last of the five defendants to testify. Then the trial will hear brief testimony from six character witnesses for Parkinson and two rebuttal witnesses for the prosecution.

Parkinson, former White House aide H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, ex-Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian are charged with conspiring to obstruct the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

Parkinson testified Wednesday that officials of Richard M. Nixon's re-election committee, particularly Mardian and Mitchell, didn't tell him all they knew about the Watergate break-in.

"I did not have facts. I didn't know certain things, all I had was third- or fourth-hand information, much of which was hearsay," Parkinson testified under cross examination by Assistant Special Prosecutor Jill Wine Volner.

Parkinson said that Jeb Stuart Magruder, deputy director of the Nixon campaign committee, told him on July 13, 1972, less than a month after the break-in, that he was involved, along with Mitchell, Haldeman and White House aides John W. Dean III and Gordon C. Strachan.

But Mitchell and others later told him Magruder's story was untrue, Parkinson said.

At the time, Parkinson, a Washington lawyer who said he'd never been involved in politics, was representing the Nixon re-election committee in civil suits stemming from the break-in.

Hospital Board Receives $5,000 Check From USS Chemicals Plant

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

Wayne Miller from the local USS Chemicals plant met with the Berger Hospital Board of Governors Wednesday night to present a check for the building fund. The company made a pledge in the amount of $5,000 earlier this year and presented a check for that amount to John Reid, administrator of the hospital.

Miller stipulated that the donation was made in behalf of the employees of the local plant as well as the United States Steel Foundation Inc. He said that it is the local people who will benefit most from the hospital and its improvement plan.

Dwight Radcliff Elected President Of State Sheriffs

By BOB BENSONHAVER
Herald Staff Writer

Approximately 350 people attended the Buckeye State Sheriff's Association installation banquet, Wednesday, at the Sheraton Hotel, Columbus, when Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight E. Radcliff was installed as the president, concluding the annual convention.

Radcliff stepped to the top position as the organization's 45th president and, by coincidence, on the 45th anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Radcliff.

It was the first time in the history of the BSSA that a father and son, who have both served as Sheriff in their respective county, have held the presidents position.

Radcliff's father, Charles, is a charter member of BSSA, helped organize the association, served as the first treasurer in 1931 and also presided as president in 1950.

Ferris Lucas, executive director of the National Sheriff's Association, administered the oath to the incoming officers.

Radcliff succeeds John Borgia, Huron County Sheriff, who presided over Wednesday's activities. Borgia was knighted with a stainless steel sword from the Walter Stevens Company by NSA president Bernard Kaiter. Kaiter is a past president of BSSA and presently Montgomery County Sheriff.

Introducing Radcliff, Borgia called him one of the most outstanding Sheriffs that he has ever known in Ohio.

Serving his third term as Pickaway County Sheriff, Radcliff served on the BSSA Board of Directors from 1968-70; elected to treasurer in 1971 and continued up the ladder as third vice-president in 1972; second in 1973 and first vice-president in 1974 before becoming president.

Radcliff expressed appreciation to the Sheriff's of Ohio for their vote of confidence in leading the association as the 45th president.

"I am determined to help move the association forward to put the members on the professional level where they have so long belonged," Radcliff commented.

Radcliff then introduced his wife, Betty and children, Vicki, Dwight and Robbie and other members of the family. He expressed sincere appreciation to those persons whom he works with every day.

"No man can work without the aid of his commissioners," Radcliff noted. Pickaway County Commissioners Wayne Hines, L. Robert Liston Jr., Dick Tootle and secretary Geneva Brink were present for the affair.

Rep. Myrl Shoemaker was also present for the ceremony.

The 42-year-old Radcliff then presented outgoing John Borgia with a gun and BSSA lapel pin.

The main speaker for the banquet was the Rev. Fred Lukes. More commonly known as the popular pastor from Ohio University, Lukes is listed as one of the 10 best speakers in America.

A man who has worked with youth on America's high school and universities campuses, Lukes chose as his topic, "Hope in Youth Rebellion" or "How to Live With Youth". He elaborated on five points to the people present on how to help the youth of the world.

Door prizes were then given away at the close of the 44th annual meeting.

Damage High In N&W Freight Derailment

A massive derailment piled up approximately 30 cars, caused million dollars damage and closed the Norfolk and Western Railroad track north of Circleville for at least two days.

None of the four crewman on the fast southbound freight were injured. The train was traveling at a speed of 40 miles per hour when the derailment occurred at 8:05 a.m. today.

Although the cause of the derailment has not yet been determined, Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Billy Huffman reported it appeared that a loose chain on one of the cars accidentally wrapped around a switching device.

The engine and nearly half of the 82-car train had passed the switch when the accident occurred. The derailed portion of the train was hurled against a string of empty coal cars parked on the siding. Track was torn up for 100 yards or more, rails were bent and ties ripped up.

The derailment gouged huge holes in the railroad right of way and cars were hurled down over an embankment into a drainage ditch running alongside of the track.

Members of the train crew were: Homer Childers, conductor; Paul Willard, engineer, J. D. Jones, head brakeman, H. W. Morrison, rear brakeman, Don Tudor, fireman, all of near Portsmouth.

Childers, who has worked for the N & W for 32 years, has only 60 days to go until retirement.

"I've always worried about those last few days," Childers said. "When I heard the emergency air and then saw those cars piling up ahead, I thought I was never going to collect that pension, but Somebody Up There must have been riding with us."

There were six cars between the last derailed car and the caboose in which Childers and Morrison were riding. The other crewman were at the head of the train.

Jones said he started walking back along the track after the train had come to a halt. The men in the head of the train had no idea how bad the derailment was. "When I saw the cars piled up I knew it had to be close to the cab and I started running, afraid that somebody could have gotten hurt," he related.

Childers said that he had been involved in one other derailment during his railroading career, back in 1950. He was riding at the head of the train that time. Forty-seven cars were derailed in that accident he remembered, just barely missing the engine.

All the crewman were shaken but extremely relieved they had survived with no injuries of any kind. Two of the railroad cars were loaded with new automobiles, and these automobiles miraculously survived the crash with very little visible damage.

One car contained an inflammable liquid, but it was near the end of the train and was not damaged.

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department and railroad officials are conducting an investigation into the accident.

The railroad will move work crews into the scene as quickly as possible and they will work round the clock until the track is cleared and repaired.

Reid, under whose administration the building project became a reality, accepted the check and said that he was very pleased that the plant is supporting the program.

With the $5,000 from USS Chemicals, approximately $31,000 has been donated to the new hospital facility by local industry. Reid presented the board with figures that showed an average of $59.70 per employee has been donated so far by industries giving their financial support. This is of course an average figure since one plant donated $100 per employee.

The board voted to keep the supporting industries informed as to the growth of the hospital with a progress report to be prepared and mailed to each plant.

It was a time of departing for Reid since he will leave the post as administrator at Berger officially the first of the year. He submitted his resignation to the board on Oct. 25 to accept the position as administrator of the Lancaster-Fairfield Hospital. Reid has been at Berger for four and a half years but said he believed in moving every so many years.

Charles Rideout, the new administrator, was present at the meeting. He will assume the duties as administrator Jan. 1. Rideout left the administrator's position at Pike County Hospital to come to Berger. It was announced at the meeting that Don Deener from Pomeroy will assume the position at Pike County Hospital.

The financial report was presented to the board by Reid as prepared by finance committee chairman Harry Clifton. Reid said the report for November showed the lowest occupancy for the entire year. Occupancy for the month was 68 per cent as opposed to 78 per cent in November, 1973. The occupancy figure for the year to date is 73 per cent. It was 76 per cent to date at this time last year.

Reid also pointed out to the board that the cost per patient day had taken a sharp rise since last year. The cost for November was $125.86 while it was only $89 during November of last year. The average cost to date is $105.38 over last year's figure of $89.31.

Forty-five births were recorded at the hospital during the month and 70 operations were performed.

A loss for the year was reported at $6,664. The financial report showed the accounts receivable down $10,000 and Reid advised the board he had been examining the accounts receivable for

ROUNDTOWN

FRIDAY the 13th came three days late for Robert Tufts, 522 Glenmont Dr. . . .

Tufts told Circleville police that thieves took about $5 worth of Christmas lights from in front of his house Monday . . . And, upon searching further, he discovered that two CB antennas, valued at $90, were also stolen . . .

But, to top it off, when he got in his car to report the thefts to police, he found the thieves also had siphoned all the gasoline from the vehicle.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined slightly today, wavering inconclusively in a pattern it has followed most of the past several weeks.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 1.41 at 602.08, and declines outstripped advances by about 3-2 in quiet trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said a good many investors had settled back to wait until after the holidays for indications of what steps the government might take to counteract the recession.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index slipped .05 to 60.16.

Market watchers said what activity there was mainly represented tax-selling and portfolio adjustments by investing institutions with the end of the year approaching.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks lost .13 to 35.61.

Arraignments Held For Men Indicted By Last Grand Jury

Seven people indicted by the Grand Jury last Friday appeared Wednesday morning in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court for arraignment. Also appearing during the mid-week session of court were two people for sentencing and four others who changed their pleas from not guilty to guilty.

Ralph James Wolfe, Tarlton, and Douglas D. Johnston, 303 W. Huston St., both appeared after being indicted Friday on felony charges and requested that the court appoint legal counsel to represent them. Wolfe is charged with theft and forgery and Johnston with felonious assault.

Not guilty pleas were entered by Daniel Lee Sprouse, Route 4, and Ernest Haddox, 121 S. Scioto St. Haddox was indicted by the grand jury for receiving stolen property. Sprouse faces a charge of disposing of stolen property.

A Columbus man, James Clarence Jones, also entered pleas of not guilty to the charges brought against him by the grand jury in its fourth session. Jones is charged with aggravated burglary and grand theft at the David Dill residence at Route 1, Ashville.

Pearl Franklin Barnhart, who was charged on a secret indictment, for breaking and entering and grand theft, entered pleas of guilty to each of the charges. Judge William Ammer ordered a pre-sentence report to be prepared on him by the Adult Parole Authority.

Lloyd Lee Barnhart, Route 1, Kingston, who was also indicted by the last grand jury, entered not guilty pleas to breaking and entering, grand theft and aggravated burglary.

Two prison terms were sentenced to Dale Knece, Route 4, during the Wednesday morning session of court. Knece entered negotiated pleas of guilty to aggravated breaking and entering and abduction and the county prosecutor's office agreed to recommend dismissal of three other charges. Judge Ammer dismissed the other charges and proceeded with sentencing on the two major offenses.

Knece was sentenced to 4-20 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary on the aggravated breaking and entering and 1-10 years on the abduction charge. Judge Ammer ordered the two sentences to run concurrently.

Three Columbus men involved in the theft of railroad ties in Ashville changed their pleas from not guilty to guilty. Judge Ammer ordered the Adult Parole Authority to prepare a pre-sentence report on Donald Greene, Charles Porter and Lonnie Greene.

Frederick Walls appeared before the court on two charges of passing bad checks after undergoing psychiatric examination at the Columbus State Hospital. Officials at the hospital found him to be legally sane and returned him to the jurisdiction of the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court for further disposition of the charges against him.

He was sentenced to a term of six months to five years in the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield on each count. Judge Ammer then suspended the prison terms and placed Walls on probation for three years.

A final appearance made for the day was Gary Congrove, Route 1, Laurelville. Congrove changed his plea from not guilty to guilty on a charge of grand theft. The court ordered a pre-sentence report to be prepared on him.

White House Staff Access Changed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cabinet officers and senior staff members will have greater access to President Ford under the design of a new White House organizational plan.

The new organizational chart was released Wednesday along with office floor plans, a staff directory and telephone book. Donald H. Rumsfeld, assistant to the President, also disclosed Ford plans a 10 per cent cut in the White House staff, which numbered 540 a week before Ford took office.

Under the new organizational plan, nine staff members will report directly to the President, with all other White House aides reporting to one of the nine, said Rumsfeld. This represents a move away from the strongly centralized staff structure which characterized the Nixon White House. Rumsfeld said the object of the new plan is to provide Cabinet officers, members of Congress and senior staff aides access to the President and to establish a clear line of authority in the White House. It also is designed to prevent isolation of the White House from the government and the public, he added.

The nine key presidential aides who will report directly to Ford and have assigned areas of responsibility are: —Rumsfeld, responsible for White House operations and staff coordination.

—Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, national security council and its staff.

—Counselor John O. Marsh Jr., supervising offices of congressional and public liaison.

—Counselor Robert T. Hartmann, speech writing, office and political affairs.

—Counsel Philip W. Buchen, in charge of political work.

—Press Secretary Ron Nessen.

—L. William Seidman, assistant to the President for economic affairs and executive director of the economic policy board.

—Kenneth R. Cole Jr., resigning as head of the Domestic Council.

—Roy L. Ash, resigning as director of the Office of Management and Budget.

possible charity write-off. The hospital is obligated to write-off a certain percentage of accounts to charity as recipients of the Hill-Burton fund.

Reid cited several reasons for the bleak picture drawn by the financial report. He said the hospital presently had four employees over the budget and 12 more employees than last year's staff. The length of the patient stay in the hospital has taken a major drop.

He did say however that the December report should prove to be brighter because the hospital has been running to near capacity this month.

The budget for 1975 was also presented to the board and adopted. It called for approximately $1,900,000 but as Reid advised the board, the projected goal is to be in the new facility during 1975. The new budget allows for 126.5 employees. Presently there are 118 on the staff.

Increases over last year's budget includes allowances for the recently adopted salary schedule plus expenses in the new structure. There are 33,000 square feet in the present structure and an additional 37,000 being built which will require additional utility maintenance costs. Reid said the actual figure for 1974 was $1,529,000 and the new budget was $300,000 more.

In other business, the administrator told the board about a proposed chaplain program which will be in conjunction with the Circleville Bible College and Ohio University. The two-week program will help acquaint the county ministers with the visiting procedure and death. Dr. Mendenhall, a professor at OU and the Bible College, will conduct the program.

A report was given the board on the recent Christmas party held for the employees. Reid said 120 attended.

The Christmas tea for the employees and their families will be 2-4 p.m. Friday. Each of the staff members will be presented a gift from the board and Santa Clause is scheduled to make an appearance with gifts and goodies for the children.

In years past, the board has given the employees umbrellas, clocks, candles and other useful gifts.

Members of the local Kiwanis Club were at the hospital Wednesday night to help the maintenance staff with odd jobs. This is a regular practice of the organization and the board expressed its appreciation for the work these men do out of the goodness of their hearts. They have been helping the hospital in this way for over three years now.

A report from the medical staff related to the board that the physicians have decided to stay with the Davidson

Laboratory for pathological coverage. Dr. Emily Lutz was at the board meeting representing the medical staff.

The staff also recommended to the board that Dr. Carl Bacus and Dr. Robert Palma be extended courtesy staff privileges in the hospital's emergency room. The board approved the recommendation.

Reid's report to the board continued and he advised the board concerning the check of the maternity licenser and the State of Ohio's check on the kitchen facilities. There are no deficiencies in the maternity ward but the state inspector found a need for replacement of shelves for the walk-in refrigerator.

Ten units which would replace the shelves were approved for purchase at a total price of $750. Reid asked the board to approve the item because it was not a budgeted item.

Bills totaling $127,783.43 were approved for payment. Reid pointed out that this is the largest amount spent at one time so far during the building project. He also said that the board had spent a quarter of a million dollars during the last two months.

Mrs. Robert Liggett, president of the general guilds, reported that the bazaar had grossed $2,449.68. She said the bills due were not more than $50 or $60. The total figure represents $15 more than last year's bazaar. The guilds are looking toward the spring lawn festival.

The meeting was concluded with farewells to Reid and welcomes to Rideout. Mayor Frank Barnhill, president of the board of directors, said the hospital had certainly benefitted under Reid's leadership and the various board members present agreed. Reid was commended for his job and the board expressed appreciation to him.

Rideout said he saw no reason why the hospital should not continue to grow as the rest of this community has grown.

The Christmas program at the United Methodist Church will be presented on Sunday, at 9:30 a.m. during the regular worship hour.

The final practice for the entire Sunday School program will be on Saturday, 3-5 p.m. All participants are urged to be present.

There will be a communion and Watch Night Service at the South Perry Methodist Church at 11 p.m. on Dec. 31.

High Court Rules Privacy Award Valid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today upheld a jury's award of $60,000 damages for invasion of privacy to a West Virginia woman who said she and her family were depicted as "hillbillies" in an article in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

By a vote of 8 to 1, the justices overturned a decision of the U.S. Circuit Court in Cincinnati, which had thrown out the verdict on the grounds that plaintiffs in a right to privacy suit concerning a newsworthy incident must prove that inaccuracies were published knowingly or recklessly.

The Supreme Court said, however, that it was not laying down a new general rule to govern such cases.

"This case presents an occasion to consider whether a state may constitutionally apply a more relaxed standard of reliability for a publisher or broadcaster of false statements injurious to a private individual under a false-light theory of invasion of privacy," Justice Potter Stewart wrote for the court.

Instead the court upheld the jury's verdict on grounds which Stewart indicated were confined to the particular circumstances of the case.

Justice William O. Douglas, dissenting, wrote that "freedom of the press is abridged ... by what we do today."

"Those who write the current news seldom have the objective, dispassionate point of view — or the time — of scientific analysts," Douglas said. "They deal in fast moving events and the need for 'spot' reporting. The jury under today's formula sits as a censor with broad powers — not to impose a prior restraint but to lay heavy damages on the press."

The judgment was awarded to Margaret Mae Cantrell and her son David, 17, because of an illustrated article in the Plain Dealer's Sunday magazine section on Aug. 4, 1968.

Defendants were the Forest City Publishing Co., publisher of the Plain Dealer; Joseph Eszterhas, a writer, now a senior editor of Rolling Stone magazine, and Richard T. Conway, a photographer.

Campus Notes

Vincennes University Junior College in Vincennes, Ind. bestowed the A. S. degree on Randy Lee Brooks. Brooks studied law enforcement at Vincennes and was part of the fifth annual midyear graduating class. Fifty seven students received their associate degrees during the ceremonies on Dec. 11.

A total of 359 students at Ohio Northern University have been named to the Deans' lists at the conclusion of the fall quarter for attaining a 3.5 grade point average or better.

Local students named to the honor were Gary Kenworthy, a sophomore majoring in history and political science and David Shank, a sophomore majoring in civil engineering.

Melody Lu Steely, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Jean Tarbill, 106 Collins Court, has been named by Academic Dean Roy Turley to the autumn dean's list at Otterbein College.

Two units of "A" and no grade lower than a "B" are required to attain the dean's list rating.

For the autumn term at Otterbein, 255 students were named to the dean's list.

Bob Reagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Reagan, 1050 Atwater Ave., will go to Orlando, Fla. with the Miami University Band to play for the Tangerine Bowl. Reagan is a junior at Miami majoring in education. He plays the trumpet with the university band.

Study Planned On Lake Cleanup

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Will recreational opportunities and commercial fishing improve if cities and industries along Lake Erie comply with the nation's clean water law?

That will be a central question in a $285,000 study announced Tuesday by the National Commission on Water Quality headed by Vice-President designate Nelson Rockefeller.

The study, to be completed next summer, will be included in the commission's comprehensive report to congress, a commission spokesman said.

Petunia The Albino Skunk Said 'A Doll'

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Imagine being a skunk and an albino to boot! Sounds fairly awful.

But, Petunia, who is both, can't say, but she obviously enjoys her favorite pet status at the shelter of the Hamilton County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (SPCA).

"She's a doll," said the SPCA's Dorothy Vail. "She's a pet."

Petunia recently joined the SPCA's traveling menagerie, a troupe of pets starred in a human education program. The program's aim is to further humane attitudes toward and treatment of pets among young school children.

The troupe has visited 5,719 pupils in 23 elementary and primary schools in Hamilton County since its founding in September.

The SPCA also holds programs at its shelter which include films, slides and a speaker.

Puppies and kittens make up most of the touring group, but Petunia has an important role to play. She illustrates several of the many reasons wild animals should not normally be kept from their natural environment.

Her former owners didn't set Petunia free for two reasons—she had been de-scented and with her white body had no defenses against other animals, including man.

"She likes to snuggle when you pick her up," said Mrs. Vail.

Before the snuggle, however, the albino skunk first puts on her act.

Not realizing she has been de-scented, Petunia goes into the skunk routine of stamping her little front feet. Then she turns and aims her rear where the scent glands normally located.

"She fires, but there are no bullets," said Mrs. Vail. "She looks kind of amazed when no one runs."

A Page Of Opinion

Just Checking

Under command of a recently enacted law, the Commerce and Treasury Departments are conducting an extensive review of foreign holdings in American business and land investments. Results of that study are to be presented to Congress in 1976.

Behind the unprecedented move is wariness over the investment intentions of the Arab states. With tens of billions of dollars in new oil revenues rolling in, the Arabs are expected to invest heavily in new industries and other profit-making ventures in other lands, including the United States.

Some of those investments are known to have been made already, but only a trickle compared to the potential. The current study is for information purposes only.

There is no present intention of restricting foreign investments in the U.S.

But if the huge shift of world currencies to the oil exporting nations continues, restrictions on investment by them may be necessary. A free market economy is vulnerable to exploitation and plundering by a cartel.

To America, With Love

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — The Bicentennial celebrations will begin not in 1976 at Boston, Philadelphia or Washington but on January 10, 1975 in Paris. This first of countless events memorializing the 200th birthday of an outrageously courageous Declaration that changed the course of mankind focuses on two pretty good country hands, Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson — both of whom served as "ministers" to France.

"The World of Franklin & Jefferson," presented by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration, and underwritten by IBM as a public service, will tell their stories in paintings, publications, public remarks and personal effects they left behind. They will be "joined" in the exhibition by Adams, Washington, Patrick Henry and Tom Paine. And by other great men of that enchanted time who thought revolution was the only recourse of the American colonies: Lafayette, Kosciuszko, Joseph Priestly and Edmund Burke.

The exhibition, created by Charles and Ray Eames, with the assistance of the American Museum of Art in New York, covers 7,500 square feet of what is sure to become hallowed space. After the Paris run at the Grand Palais it will be shipped on to the National Museum in Warsaw and then to the British Museum in London. It opens early in 1976 at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, then plays the Art Institute of Chicago, and winds up in San Francisco at the end of '76.

It's got to be a smash hit. Look at the writers it has:

"There is something very absurd in supposing a continent to be perpetually governed by an island . . . Those who expect to reap the blessings of freedom must, like men, undergo the fatigue of supporting it . . . In America the Law is King." (Tom Paine)

"No experiment can be more interesting than that we are now trying, which we trust will end in establishing the fact that man may be governed by reason and truth. Our first object should be to leave open to him all the avenues of truth. The most effectual hither-to found is the freedom of the press . . . Were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers, or newspapers with a government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter . . . If the present Congress errs in too much talking, how can it be otherwise, in a body to which the people send one hundred and fifty lawyers, whose trade is to question everything, yield nothing, and talk by the hour? That one hundred and fifty lawyers should do business together, ought not to be expected." (Jefferson)

"It is unreasonable to suppose printers approve of everything they print. It is likewise as unreasonable what some assert, that printers ought not to print anything but what they approve. The world would afterward have nothing to read but what happened to the opinions of printers . . . A patient pursuit of fact, and cautious combination and comparison of them, is the drudgery to which man is subjected by his Maker, if he wishes to attain sure knowledge." (Franklin)

"The World of Franklin & Jefferson" will put it on the line to millions of Europeans who view it during 1975, and, following in 1976, a lot of Americans who may need a refresher course in what a few brave and gifted subjects of George III got around to doing two centuries ago.

A prospectus, in several languages, will make note of the following:

"Benjamin Franklin, the youngest son among 17 children of a Boston candlemaker, was primarily self-educated, a businessman, diplomat, thinker and scientist who earned an international reputation within his lifetime. He was the last and most distinguished representative of Colonial America, long cherishing the idea of the colonies as a community of free British citizens swearing allegiance to the Crown. When the revolution became inevitable, however, he dedicated his considerable experience to the new goal of independence.

"Thomas Jefferson was the son of a plantation owner and received the best classical education available in the

Snake Dancer's Death Suicide

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Police today ruled a suicide the death of exotic dancer Carol Cybolski, bitten to death by a four-foot rattlesnake used in her act.

The 37-year-old divorcee had grown despondent after the night club at which she was working was raided and most of the dancers arrested, police said. She later quit, telling the club's manager she was interested in finding a more respectable line of work.

Mrs. Cybolski, who appeared on stage with the rattlesnake, water moccasin and tarantula as "Jessie James and Her Killers," was found in her apartment last week and taken to a local hospital where she died.

Police said some letters about her possible death were found in the apartment.

Cotton Harvest Makes Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. cotton harvest made good progress last week and was about 82 per cent completed by Dec. 18, says the Agriculture Department.

"Harvest of the corn and soybean crops was nearly complete, but snow, rain and wet fields over much of the nation's eastern two-thirds greatly restricted picking and combining remaining acreages," the department said in a weekly weather report.

The report said winter wheat was in good condition in most areas by mid-December, although too much rain hurt the crop in parts of Arkansas, and parts of the northern Plains needed moisture or snow cover.

colonies at the time. His mind was a product of European scholarship and American pragmatism. His ability to deal clearly and elegantly with complex matters had made itself known even before he joined with Franklin and others in the formulation of the Declaration of Independence.

Among the "others" was John Adams. The exhibition will contain the exchange of letters between the Bostonian and the Virginian in which they defrosted their classic feud not long before their incredible deaths. They died on July 4, 1826, just 50 years to the day they made us the heirs of the glorious dream they shared.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

Two rights clash in the Holy Land — the right of Arab, that of Jew. The Jews have always recognized the Arab right. Arab leaders deny the Jewish right. Because of that denial by Arabs, human beings die needlessly.

In 1918 Emir Feisal, ancestor of Hussein of Jordan, was a leader of the Arab revolt against Turkey. He expressed sympathy for Jewish aims in Palestine. In 1919 Feisal expressed his wish that Jew and Arab co-operate. During the Versailles Conference Feisal declared that he respected and welcomed Jewish settlement in the Holy Land. Western dishonesty collapsed the understanding between Feisal and Dr. Chaim Weizmann, leader of the Zionists.

The understanding need not have collapsed. Jew and Arab could have continued to recognize each other's right. Instead we have seen four wars and terrorist murder. For twenty years, from the Golan Heights, Syrian guns shelled Jewish settlements. In 1967 Israel pushed those aggressor guns back. It pushed back the menacing Egyptian guns in Sinai, and the Jordanian guns that shelled Jewish Jerusalem. It is as simple as that — an act of self-defense.

U.N. Resolution 242 bids Israel withdraw toward its borders of 1967. But in 1967 the Arabs were not satisfied with the borders of 1967. They wanted Israel to withdraw into the sea. Resolution 242 called upon the contending states to negotiate. The Arabs refused. In 1968 the United States said to Egypt — If you will negotiate with Israel, we will support the total return of Sinai to Egypt on condition that there be peace, and Sinai be demilitarized. Israel agreed. Egypt refused.

The Arab summit in Khartoum again refused to negotiate. In a discussion arranged by Le Monde of Paris, Libya's ruler el-Kaddafi denied Israel's right to exist. At the Rabat summit Arab states recognized Yasser Arafat as sole representative of Palestinian Arabs. He too demands the destruction of Israel. What shall Israel negotiate — her own murder?

The following is a summary of the Arab mind: In 1956 Egypt threatened Israel, and lost the Sinai. President Eisenhower compelled Israel to return it. In 1967 Egypt threatened Israel, and again lost the Sinai — and demands its return. In 1973 Egypt and Syria attacked Israel. When Israel turned the tide, and forced her attackers to the edge of disaster, the United States and the Soviet Union saved Egypt and Syria. This then is the Arab mentality: If Arabs win, they keep what they win. If they lose, Israel must return what Arabs lost. If Arabs face military disaster, the world powers and the UN must combine to save them. When Arab terrorists commit murder, the UN must applaud the leader of murderers. When Arabs quadruple oil prices, the world must submit to their imperialism. When misguided Arab wars produce Arab refugees, the world must support those refugees.

What can the world expect from an Arab mentality of this kind?

Sincerely,
DAVID M. MILLER

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, December 19th, the 353rd day of 1974. There are 12 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1946, the Indochina War broke out as troops under Ho Chi Minh launched widespread attacks against the French.

On this date:

In 1675, British colonists defeated Narragansett Indians in Rhode Island in the last battle of King Philip's War. In 1732, Benjamin Franklin began to publish his "Poor Richard's Almanac" in Philadelphia.

In 1842, the United States recognized the independence of Hawaii.

In 1939, in World War II, the crew of the German liner, "Columbus," scuttled the ship in mid-Atlantic to avoid capture by the British.

In 1950, General Dwight Eisenhower was named commander of military forces under the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

In 1968, a Socialist who had run for President six times, Norman Thomas, died at the age of 84.

Ten years ago: Representative Gerald Ford of Michigan announced his candidacy for Minority Leader of the House, attempting to depose Charles Halleck of Indiana.

Five years ago: Thirteen U.S. servicemen were injured when militant students in Turkey stoned American cars in a protest against a visit by U.S. Navy ships.

One year ago: Melvin Laird resigned as President Nixon's chief adviser on domestic affairs.

Today's birthdays: Soviet Communist Party chief Leonid Brezhnev is 68 years old. The British actor, Sir Ralph Richardson, is 72. Long-time major league baseball player Al Kaline is 40 years old.

Thought for today: Soldiers usually win the battles, and generals get the credit for them. — Napoleon Bonaparte, 1769-1821.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My brother and I have a tendency to develop stones in our bladders. What are the causes for this condition?

Mr. T. McF., Mich.

Dear Mr. McF.:

I am sure that the thought has occurred to you that there may be some family tendency responsible. I doubt that there is any hereditary basis for this. Rather, I am inclined to believe that a dietary regime in the same household may, perhaps, predispose you both to the same problem.

Calcium and uric acid stones are frequently found in the urinary bladder. Chronic infection and stagnation of urine may be responsible for the deposits of minerals and the formation of stones.

It is now possible, through a process known as "lithopaxy," to crush stones in the bladder. This is performed through a cystoscope introduced directly into the bladder.

Intensive study of the chemicals in the blood, in addition to X-ray studies of the kidneys, may reveal the underlying reason for stones in the bladder.

Preventive treatment can then be started to prevent the frequency and the severity of attacks.

It is possible to eliminate wrinkles around the eyes with chemicals?

Mrs. E. C. P., Tenn

Dear Mrs. P.:

The use of harsh chemicals for this purpose has long been abandoned. And a good thing, too. Phenol, a harmful burning chemical, was formerly used by cosmeticians to "peel off" outer layers of skin.

Medical societies and Public Health officials have found legal means to restrain the use of this dangerous procedure.

Irreparable harm has been done to many people with this technique for "rejuvenation."

Extensive wrinkling of the skin can best be benefited by plastic surgery.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As a consequence of the condominium concept, in which a resident owns his particular unit and shares in common areas, a form of government called the community association is developing rapidly.

It really isn't new. In 1831, residents of New York formed an association in Gramercy Park. But its growth in the past decade exceeds that of the previous century.

An association sets regulations, standards, fees — call them taxes — just as any other local government. It decides on improvements and architectural changes. It attempts to resolve disputes, as other governments do.

And, like other developing concepts it is often entangled in confusion, uncertainty and even scandal. Its officers and directors, being amateurs, sometimes don't know what they're doing. Insurers and accountants and lawyers sometimes don't know how to serve.

In more than one instance the directors decided to close the swimming pool during evenings in order to save electricity, and were sued by members who claimed they were deprived of rights they had paid for.

When a thief hacks away your door, who is responsible for replacing it? Your insurer might agree he is responsible for the inside of the door but insist the condo's insurer of common properties must pay for the outside.

Where does your property, and therefore your responsibility, end? At the rear of the paint? Or does it extend midway into the concrete or plaster? How should the accountants handle depreciation?

Newly formed by builders, lenders and associations, the Community Associations Institute, hopes to come up with some answers. Its goal is to keep managements informed and educated about planning, maintenance and management.

Quite often, the first problem encountered by the community association concerns the transfer of ownership.

It comes about this way: An automatic community association is created by a real estate developer of a condo, planned unit development or similar venture. The bylaws are essentially part of the developer's sales package.

As homes in the venture are sold, however, the developer's interest in the automatic community association diminishes and participation by the individual unit owners increases.

Governing power for the community thus is transferred from the developer to the home owners. The time span for this transfer of power is governed by the original community association's bylaws.

One problem, however, is that some builders just can't let go of their creation. Some are slow to relinquish control, others retain common facilities and lease them to the association, more tie up the association in long-term contracts.

While the institute, formed with the aid of builders, lenders and owners, hasn't yet adopted a position on when the turnover of control should be completed, James Dowden, its executive vice president, believes it soon might.

In the simplest situations, he believes builders "should be turning over control when their project is 50 per cent sold, and be out by 75-80 per cent." The institute, he said, might consider adopting such a policy.

Dowden, 31, hopes to develop the Washington-based institute swiftly as "an independent, nonprofit, research and educational organization." The need, he believes, is great and growing.

In 1962, he notes, there were about 545 community associations. Now, he estimates, there are "something in excess of 20,000." At least five million homeowners and eight million to 10 million people are involved, along with property valued at $2 billion.

And Dowden refers to a government estimate that 50 per cent of Americans will live in condominiums by 1980.

Brinegar To Resign On Feb. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Transportation Claude S. Brinegar today announced he will resign effective Feb. 1, 1975.

No mention was made of a successor.

Brinegar was the second member of Ford's Cabinet to resign. Atty. Gen. William Saxbe stepped down last week to become ambassador to India.

They, as well as the other Cabinet members, were holdovers from the Richard M. Nixon administration. Brinegar said he felt "now is the time for me to return to the private sector."

He said he had no plans for a new job at this point but would make a decision after the first of the year. Brinegar was a senior vice president of Union Oil Co. before taking the transportation post.

President Ford praised Brinegar's service as secretary and credited Brinegar with the articulation of a national transportation policy, the first such policy ever developed.

Eye Computerized Commodity Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is considering a computer network to conduct daily surveillance of commodity futures trading to detect major market transactions that affect consumer prices for farm goods.

The computer network also would be used to spot fraud or irregularities in the commodity markets for agricultural products and other raw materials.

The proposal is described in a 146-page report by a special team of Agriculture Department and industry experts.

The report was made public Tuesday by Alex C. Caldwell, administrator of the department's Commodity Exchange Authority, who ordered the study after massive Russian grain purchases in 1972 led to drastic fluctuations in U.S. grain prices.

The CEA, however, will give way next April 21 to a new independent Commodity Futures Trading Commission created by Congress this year to tighten federal regulation of commodity markets.

Caldwell said he "supports proposals in the study and will recommend them" to the new commission. However, some of the proposals were not entirely supported by all the study team members who included their dissents in the report.

The report recommended the computer system be gradually put into effect over a 36-month span after Congress authorizes funding. A spokesman said the initial cost of the system is estimated at $750,000, plus $122,000 a month compared with $48,000 a month for the present system.

Currently, the CEA relies primarily on reports filed by the commodity industry for policing the commodity markets. The new plan would require futures traders to supply detailed information on each transaction on a daily basis.

The study team included five members from the USDA and four from the commodity trade. The private traders said in their comments in the report that they did not think "alternative approaches have been adequately explored" which would stop short of the total daily surveillance set forth in the proposal.

Dissenters said surveillance priorities and other guidelines should be established to insure the system produces the desired results. They also expressed concern over "public policy aspects" of using data surveillance to enforce federal regulations.

"We can identify no precedent in which a business activity is subjected to a complete reporting of every transaction occurring each day, wherein the purpose is solely to achieve regulation," the statement said. "The proposed system would be a radical departure from the present record-retention regulations as contained in the current Commodity Exchange Act."

The traders also said in their dissent that the study did not contain a legal opinion supporting the constitutionality of the plan and its relationship to the individual rights of privacy.

6 Ohio Cities Eyed For Test Of Water Supply

WASHINGTON (AP)—Six Ohio cities are among 80 selected by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for tests aimed at learning the organic chemical content of their public drinking water supplies.

The EPA said Wednesday that tests will be conducted in detail in 10 cities but only for certain chemicals in the others, including those in Ohio.

The tests were prompted by recent discoveries of chemicals in the water supplies of Cincinnati and New Orleans that are suspected of causing cancer, said EPA Administrator Russell Train.

The Ohio cities are Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Indian Hill, Piqua and Youngstown (Mahoning Valley Sanitary District).

Man Must Seek Donations To Provide Lighted Display

VIOLA, Del. (AP) — Last year the energy-shortage lighting ban almost ruined Olin Dill's annual message of Christmas cheer. This year he's worried about the cost of electricity for the 10,000 Christmas lights that adorn his home.

For the first time in more than two decades, Dill has been forced to ask for donations from the thousands who come to view his home, about eight miles south of Dover.

"Inflation's hit me just like everyone else," he said. "I called the electric company the other day and found out it's going to cost me three times as much to have my lights on this year."

Until now the most Dill and his family had accepted from the thousands who annually tour their 55 acres was a fruitcake and $2 from a drunk who stuffed it in Dill's pocket and refused to take it back, Mrs. Dill said.

In the pre-energy crisis years, Dill said he could run the lighting display for 120 hours from the week before Christmas until New Year's Day for about $120. If it is run at the same level this season, it would cost about $700, Mrs. Dill said.

Last year, because of a presidential request to forego decorative lights, the display was lit for only 44 hours and used 2,000 fewer lights. The electric bill was about $100, but that same display would cost about $350 this year, Dill said.

Since the display opened on Sunday, donations have been enough to meet the bills, Mrs. Dill said. Last year 9,500 cars and buses visited the farm grounds, but the Dills say they hope the donation box doesn't make anyone feel obligated to pay for the tour.

"If people want to pitch in a coin, maybe we'll run it longer," Dill said.

Yule Dinner Party Held By Lions Club Auxiliary, Guests

Lions Club, Auxiliary and guests celebrated their annual Christmas dinner party, Sunday at the Buccaneer Steak House, Lancaster.

Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe started the festivities with an inspirational prayer befitting the occasion. Clarence Radcliffe led the group in singing Christmas carols. After the rib-eye and ham smorgasbord, the evening was spent playing cards. Door prizes were won by Mrs. George Mallott, Gail Wolfe, Mrs. David L. Smith, Mrs. O. L. Hockman and Mrs. Ruby Wise.

Girl Scout Units Hold Holiday Luncheon Meeting

Girl Scout Logan Trails and Tri-Plains Service Units held a combined meeting on Thursday at the Trinity Lutheran Parish House.

The committee decorated the tables with favors made by one of the troops and provided a punch table. Members brought handmade ornaments and hung them on the tree. These ornaments were later given to a local nursing home for its tree.

After enjoying a carry-in luncheon, the singing of Christmas carols was led by Marian Fischer, accompanied by Katie Wamsley at the piano. Members exchanged handmade gifts and played charades of Christmas carol titles.

The next meeting of Logan Trails Service Unit will be Jan. 9th from 7-9 p.m. at the Trinity Lutheran Parish House. Parents Night has been postponed until a later date.

Blue Star Mothers Hold Holiday Party

The annual Christmas party of Blue Star Mothers Club was held recently in the home of Mrs. Harry Melvin, Route 3.

Mrs. Emma Ankrom conducted a brief business meeting when plans were made to purchase stationery to sell for patients in the Chillicothe VA Hospital.

Gifts were exchanged and refreshments served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held 2 p.m., Jan. 9th.

Caroling Party By Volunteers

Red Cross Youth Volunteers will meet 5:30 p.m. Thursday at the chapter house, 167 Watt St.

Members are reminded to bring cookies which will be wrapped and distributed as they are caroling.

Forever Young Kitchen Band Elects Officers At Dinner

The Forever Young Kitchen Band of Pickaway Senior Center held election of officers at its December meeting. Assuming their duties will be: Pauline Pearce, president; Alton Stonerock, secretary and Lida Ross, treasurer.

A carry-in Christmas dinner was held Dec. 14th at the home of the pianist, Ray Beery, 414 E. Ohio St., gaily decorated for the occasion. The remainder of the evening was spent singing Christmas carols accompanied by Mr. Beery at the organ. Polly Jane Thomas, guest of Blanche Kerns, sang "O Holy Night," and she played the piano with Mr. Beery at the organ for the singing of "Silent Night."

Present for the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Turney Ross, Mr. and Mrs. John Miranda, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Allison, Viola Hartranft, Blanche Kerns, Polly Jane Thomas, Lucille Scott, Alton Stonerock, Eloise Fee, Grace Streitenberger, Glenna Warner, Pauline Pearce, Helen Knece, May Rhymer, Ellen DeLong and Ray Beery.

The band will play for Senior Center members during the program on Dec. 19th in the Parish House of Trinity Lutheran Church. There will be a carry-in dinner at noon and members may bring guests and table service along with what food they wish.

The next rehearsal for the band will be 1:30 p.m., Jan. 13th, at the Center.

Christmas Party Held By CAC

Child Advancement Club held its Christmas party recently in the home of Mrs. Maynard Marshall, Route 2. A carry-in dinner was served preceding exchanging of Christmas gifts.

A Christmas prayer was by June Ankrom and readings were: "Keeping Christmas" by Mrs. C. H. Steinhauer, "Incident To Remember" by Mrs. Robert Young, "One Solitary Life" by Mrs. Jack Wise, and members joined in singing "Silent Night."

The January meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Dan Pontious.

Correction

The Tuesday meeting of Roundtown Busy Bees Homemakers Extension Club was held in the home of Mrs. C. C. Schwarz, 147 Watt St. for its Christmas party, and not in the home of Mrs. Charles Walters as previously published.

If you want to bake two large pans of cookies and need to use two oven racks at a time, space the racks at least 3 inches apart so the pans have good air circulation.

Calvary Church Circles Combine For December Meeting

Circles of Calvary United Methodist Church met together recently in the church annex. Mrs. Dale DeLong opened the meeting by reading a letter from a former pastor of the church, the Rev. W. D. Ramsey. He and Mrs. Ramsey will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary in the near future.

Following prayer by Mrs. DeLong the visitation committee reported 13 calls made on sick and shut-ins for the month of November. It was told that a number of ladies have completed the reading course of the circles.

Maxine Gerlach said the UMW will prepare fruit baskets, on Dec. 18th and deliver them that evening while the youth and adults will be caroling.

Two poinsettia plants are to be purchased to help decorate the sanctuary and will then be given to shut-ins at Christmas. Do-It-Yourself projects were submitted with the regular offering. Members agreed to give a Christmas offering to Otterbein Home.

Dates to be remembered were announced as: Dec. 14th, Children's and Youth Christmas parties; Dec. 18th, National Day For Prayer, asking for God's blessing; Dec. 24th, Candlelight service.

Mrs. Dale DeLong directed the program using as her topic "What Do You Bring To Christmas?" Scripture from St. Luke was repeated in Unison. Mrs. Mark DeLong read one of her favorite poems, as requested, entitled "I Love You Mother." The ladies then formed three groups and each was asked a different question on what Christmas means to them or what they could do to help at Christmas. They later were asked to comment on the discussions.

A number of Christmas carols were sung and refreshments were served by hostesses, Mrs. Gerlach, Mrs. Luella Lape and Mrs. Francis Davis.

Auxiliary Cancels December Meeting

Unit 134 American Legion Auxiliary will not have a meeting in December.

Members wishing to contribute food or toys for Christmas baskets to disabled veteran families are reminded Dec. 21st is the deadline to deliver them to Mrs. Rose Ann Stinson, 215 E. Union St.

State Demos Face Difficulties

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democrats in the 111th General Assembly may well have difficulty next month in shoving through within a cramped six days three major pieces of legislation, including a congressional redistricting plan.

Even some of their own legislative leaders have begun squawking publicly about the bills that party chieftains would like to see pushed through between Jan. 6 and Jan. 13—the period in which Democrats will control both houses and the governor's office.

Rep. Barney Quilter, D-47 Toledo, already has told newsmen he doesn't like most of the package or the hurry-up approach necessary to ram it through.

Quilter will be second-in-command of the House in the upcoming legislative session.

"I think that as far as ramming a congressional redistricting bill through, it would leave a bad taste in everybody's mouth," he said.

If district boundaries should be redrawn, said Quilter, Democrats should do it in a routine, orderly manner and send it to the governor. If James A. Rhodes is in office and vetoes the bill he would have to justify his actions, Quilter said.

Many lawmakers have complained privately that they believe outgoing Gov. John J. Gilligan's advisors are "thinking with their blood rather than their heads."

One target is John E. Hansan, Gilligan's chief of staff.

"He blew the election and now wants to get us in trouble," said a representative from northeast Ohio. "Hell, he and the rest of that crew down there (in the governor's office) will be gone from the state in three months. If Gilligan keeps listening to them he'll be lucky ever to be elected county commissioner."

Besides redistricting, Democrat partisans want to take income tax collection from the administration and give it to Democratic Treasurer Gertrude Donahey, securing jobs for at least 300 Democrats.

Another goal is to take away from GOP Secretary of State Ted W. Brown authority to accept or reject party selections for membership on local boards of elections.

Several of the 91 members of the party's state executive committee are working on still other proposals.

At their latest meeting, Gilligan reportedly had to point out that it would be up to Democratic leaders in the legislature to decide what to move and what not to move.

Lebanon Won't Rehire Workers

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—The 18 city workers who were fired for violating the state's law forbidding strikes by public employes will not be rehired.

City Personnel Director Karl Detwiler said the city would not take the workers back although it could under provisions of the Ferguson Act.

Detwiler said he will hire new employees to replace the strikers who, despite the firings Tuesday, maintained picket lines.

The strikers were all employed by the city power plant and waterworks. They walked out Nov. 19 demanding recognition of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers as their bargaining agent.

City Board Discusses Present Status Of Discipline Case

Attorney Allan Berger was present at the city school board meeting Wednesday night with legal advice concerning the next steps to be taken in the case concerning the school's disciplinary action. Berger represented the board of education when six high school boys and their parents filed a motion in the county common pleas court for a restraining order to keep the board from enforcing the disciplinary action taken by the high school principal, Paul Sarchet.

Sarchet had ordered the suspension of the boys from school for three days for taking part in an initiation in the Stooze Club. They were then suspended from athletic competition for 40 days.

The case was dismissed in the local court but Berger advised the board the plaintiffs could file for an appeal within 30 days.

In regular board action, the resignation was accepted by the board from Shirley Lear, bus driver. Her resignation was effective Dec. 10.

The board approved employment of Lynn Marie Philbin to replace Mrs. Melanie Mann who resigned due to pregnancy. Ms. Philbin has a bachelor of science degree from Ohio State University and no teaching experience. She will teach high school English.

Isabel Wilkins was employed as bus driver effective Dec. 11. She was a former substitute bus driver and was moved into the full-time position left by Mrs. Lear.

Margaret Rooney, Eleanor Ruman Allen and Mary Buckel were approved to be added to the substitute teachers list.

The board also approved custodians Lillian Eggleton, Dan DeVore and Phyllis Schultz for additional work during the holiday vacation. They will work Dec. 23, 24, 26, 27, 30 and 31 but only in the mornings of the 24th and the 31st.

Renewal of the contract with the Ohio National Bank of Columbus for the payroll data processing services was approved by the board. The board also approved the renewal of the contract with F. C. Russell for snow removal.

Circleville Oil's proposed agreement with the board was accepted allowing for a .02 cents per gallon discount from the pump price for all the board-owned vehicles. The company also advised the board that the providing of free gasoline for the driver education cars will terminate. The termination is subject to reconsideration if federal guidelines prove to be more favorable to the company.

Six elementary school students were approved for tutoring and one junior high student for home instruction.

Comprehensive insurance coverage was added to the fleet policy for four board-owned vehicles through the Lawrence Johnson Insurance Agency. The cost to the board is $37 for the 1970 Chevrolet truck, the 1970 Ford station wagon, 1968 Ford truck and the 1968 Plymouth sedan.

The re-appointment of board member Thomas Elsea to the Joint Vocational Board for a four-year term beginning Jan. 1 was confirmed by three other board members. Board member Shirley Wylie passed on the motion to re-appoint Elsea.

Elsea and Forrest Brown, also a member of the Vocational School Board, brought Superintendent Fritz Jacobs and the other board members up to date on the progress at the new vocational school.

The following policy concerning the definition of "professional meetings" was adopted by the board as a guideline:

"Professional meetings and activities are those meetings and activities the purpose of which is to improve the competency of the employees as related to the specific assignment of the employee by the Board of Education and/or the administration."

"It is assumed that from the meeting or activity a benefit will accrue to the school district instructional program."

In conjunction with the newly adopted policy, the board approved four staff members to attend professional meetings. The following were approved: William Rosengarten, Distributive Education LAPS Evaluation, in Columbus on Nov. 19; Mary Alice Greenwood, LAPS Evaluation on Dec. 3, substitution for previously approved November meeting which was canceled; Lynn Kraus, Whitehall High School, North Central Evaluation on April 22 and 23; Mary Hartung, EMR Systems Workshop in Cincinnati on Jan. 10 and 11.

Payment of the $450 for the membership to the Ohio School Board Association was approved for payment. The board also approved attendance of any board member to the National School Board meeting in

According to the American Bankers Assn. more than 23 billion personal checks will be written this year in the United States.

April in Miami Beach, Fla.

Superintendent Jacobs reviewed with the board the smoking problem. He said the situation at the junior high had greatly improved but the senior high still has problems. The board and superintendent talked about future possibilities for improving the situation but reached no conclusion.

Regular year-end transfers as recommended by clerk Mary Ellen Rader were approved by the board.

Jacobs was granted permission to employ bus monitors in certain situations as needed.

In conclusion, the board agreed to meet at noon on Jan. 3 for the required organizational meeting. At that time, a date and time will be established for the regular meetings for 1975.

Rhodes Supports Bill For Park

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gov.-Elect James A. Rhodes has called on President Ford to sign a bill that establishes a national park in the Cuyahoga Valley between Akron and Cleveland.

Rhodes sent the president a telegram Wednesday, saying in part that the proposed recreational facility will "benefit millions of people," and that he has supported it since its inception eight years ago.

The governor-elect, a Republican who defeated Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan in Ohio's Nov. 5 election, takes office Jan. 13.

He noted some members of the state's congressional delegation, including Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, expressed concern earlier this week that the legislation may be in for a Ford veto.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Yellow Teeth And A Heavy Heart

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married, 28-year-old woman with a problem I've never seen in your column.

All my life I've been unhappy with my teeth. They are strong and healthy, but very yellow. I can't tell you how much I want lovely white teeth. Abby! I've tried everything I've seen advertised, but nothing has worked for me.

Last evening I sat next to a dentist at a dinner party, and I mentioned that I would love to have my teeth capped for vanity's sake. He laughed and said, "Forget it. No ethical dentist would destroy healthy teeth for cosmetic reasons."

Abby, why not? They're MY teeth, and I want them capped for cosmetic reasons, why wouldn't an ethical dentist do it? After all, plastic surgeons "destroy" healthy noses every day to reshape them to make people happier with their appearance. What's the difference?

HATES TO SMILE

DEAR HATES: Your dinner partner should have told you that some dentists are reluctant to tinker with Nature's original work, because it increases the possibilities of problems. However, my dental experts do not agree that "no ethical dentist would perform cosmetic dentistry on healthy teeth that are unsightly." When skillfully done, such dentistry does not "destroy" teeth. Many ethical dentists practice cosmetic dentistry to the delight of grateful patients who have learned to smile again.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, Jane, is 25, attractive and holds a responsible position. She is also quite naive and unsophisticated.

For that last two years Jane has been seeing a young man who could easily get married if he wanted to. He has Jane eating out of his hand, but this relationship seems to be going nowhere.

Jane refuses to date anyone else, but this young man openly dates others, which hurts Jane deeply.

Every time we attempt to discuss this one-sided relationship with Jane, it results in an emotional outburst and she tells us to please stay out of her affairs.

What can we do? My husband would like to tell this young man to either fish or cut the bait, but I don't think we should interfere. What do you think?

JANE'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I think you're right. Any pressure on father's part would send the young man running for the hills. Let Jane handle it, and don't compound her problem by attempting to discuss it.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Seconds Thoughts" prompts me to write. (She wanted to know whether to go ahead and marry a man who had beaten her up in a fit of jealousy because she danced with another man.)

I'm glad you advised her against marrying him. I spent 20 years as a detective with Scotland Yard, and as such I've had a lot of experience with emotionally unstable persons.

Obviously, a man who would beat a woman is in need of help, and he should be helped, but it is definitely wrong for a woman to be legally chained to such a person.

My own observations have led me to believe that persons with uncontrollable tempers have a basic emotional defect, and the certainly will not improve after marriage. They sometimes improve, however, when they see someone with a slightly bigger stick than the one they wield.

Patrolman Recovers Car, Apprehends 'Suspicious' Group

Sgt. Ron Thompson of the Circleville Post of the State Highway Patrol recovered a stolen car and apprehended four suspects in the case at 11:20 a.m. Wednesday.

A call was received earlier Wednesday morning from Dennis R. Haddinger, manager trainee at a lumber company on Route 23 near County Road 511. Haddinger reported to Patrol Dispatcher Georgia Melvin that there was a group of young people standing around a car at the lumber company. They had come to Haddinger and asked for fuel.

He told the dispatcher that they all looked rather young and their story concerning the ownership of the vehicle sounded somewhat suspicious.

Sgt. Thompson dispatched to the scene and ran a check on the car. The check with the Bureau of Motor Vehicles came back over his car radio positive and he proceeded to interrogate the youngsters.

The group included one male juvenile, one female juvenile and two adults. One of the adults, Robert F. Moody, 20, of Columbus, admitted to Sgt. Thompson that he had stolen the car on Dec. 15. He said the others were not involved that he had just been taking them for a ride.

Moody at first told the officer that someone had loaned him the car but the report confirmed the car had been stolen from a parking place on N. High St., in Columbus.

The car is owned by Larry L. Sullivan, Columbus, who reported to the Columbus Police Department that his vehicle had been stolen on the 15th.

Both the juvenile subjects have Columbus addresses but the other male adult reported a Florida address. Sgt. Thompson said today that he had a record including an auto larceny related offense.

Thompson released all four subjects to the Columbus Police Department for further investigation. He said the car will be released to its owner.

Assisting in the apprehension and recovery of the car were post commander Lt. E. S. Kohn, Ptl. L. P. Hardesty, Ptl. E. J. Urban and Cadet Keith B. Clark.

Thompson said much of the credit for the successful apprehension can be attributed to Haddinger's interest in the subjects' suspicious actions. The post officials extend their appreciation for his report.

Copter Crash Kills Ohio Man

NEW SMYRNA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Authorities sought today to determine what caused a helicopter crash near here Wednesday which claimed the life of an Ohio pilot.

Richard Lynn Riegger, 26, of Medina, Ohio, died in the accident. Witnesses said the craft, owned by Doan Helicopter Service of South Florida, appeared to come apart in flight.

The same company owned a sight seeing helicopter which exploded last summer off Daytona Beach, killing three persons, the sheriff's office said.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A municipal utility cannot file a complaint against the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio protesting an alleged duplication of service by another public utility, the Ohio Supreme Court ruled today.

The court upheld the PUCO order allowing the Dayton Power & Light Co. to supply electricity to the Upper Valley Joint Vocational School. It previously had been supplied by the City of Piqua.

STATE AND NATIONAL—The Buckeye State Sheriff's Association was organized in 1931 and out of that came the organization of the National Sheriff's Association. Attending the state convention from both associations, from the left, are: George Papadopolis, past BSSA president, Sheriff Stark County and sixth vice-president of NSA; Dwight E.

Radcliff, Pickaway County Sheriff, BSSA president; Charles Radcliff, past president BSSA 1950, former Pickaway County Sheriff, and father of Dwight Radcliff; and Bernard Kaiter, past president BSSA, Sheriff of Montgomery County and president of National Sheriff's Association.

Economic Distress Signals Fly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy has turned in another set of distressing signals as more Americans are going to lose their jobs, paychecks shrunk and the balance of payments deteriorated.

The gloomy economic indicators Wednesday were led by an announcement that the government was hit with the second largest deficit ever in the U.S. balance of payments in the third quarter, largely as a result of the high cost of foreign oil. The deficit of $3.6 billion compared with $2.5 billion for the second quarter and an all-time high of $3.9 billion in the first quarter of 1972.

In the midst of the new woes, President Ford appealed to steel producers not to boost prices as high as the 8 per cent hike announced by the industry leader, U.S. Steel. Acting under Ford's order, the Council on Wage and Price Stability has asked U.S. Steel to justify its price increase.

Some industry leaders say U.S. Steel may be forced to roll back at least some of its increase in light of the White House pressure.

Meanwhile, the government reported that 693,000 persons began filing new claims for unemployment insurance benefits during the first week of December. The claims, representing an increase of 169,500 over the previous week, were in addition to the 2,982,600 persons who already were receiving jobless benefits during the last week in November.

With more persons out of work, overall personal income declined two-tenths of one per cent during November, or $2.2 billion at an annual rate, according to the Commerce Department. That compared with an increase of six-tenths of one per cent, or $7 billion, the previous month.

The Commerce Department also said that industrial payrolls fell 2.5 per cent last month, representing a $7 billion drop at an annual rate. The falloff was blamed on the coal strike and job layoffs in auto and other industries.

fourth of the blue-collar work force of the biggest automaker, General Motors, will be let go indefinitely. GM announced 6,000 more layoffs Wednesday, which will put 91,000 of its employees out of work by the end of January.

The number of hourly auto workers now set for indefinite layoff throughout the industry in January is at least 141,000. Their troubles are compounded by rapidly shrinking unemployment funds that will leave thousands of jobless workers with fewer benefits than expected.

The government's latest estimate of U.S. unemployment is for 7.5 per cent next year. But a group of Western economists predicted Wednesday that U.S. unemployment will hit 8 per cent by the end of the 1975 as part of a pattern of economic stagnation for most countries in the non-Communist world.

In another development, negotiators for striking coal construction workers and the industry reached tentative agreement on a new contract, which later was approved by a union bargaining council. The agreement now faces a vote by rank-and-file workers Saturday, a union official said. Results may be known as early as Sunday night.

Picketing by the 4,500 construction workers, members of the United Mine Workers, has kept nearly half the nation's soft-coal miners away from their jobs.

Water Tests In 80 Cities Set By EPA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Drinking water in 80 cities will be analyzed under a government survey stemming from the discovery of a number of suspected cancer-causing chemicals in the water of Cincinnati and New Orleans.

The Environmental Protection Agency said Wednesday the survey will begin in Philadelphia, Seattle, Miami, Cincinnati and Ottumwa, Iowa, during the first six months of 1975. Five other areas are scheduled for comprehensive analysis in the second half of the year; New York City; Lawrence, Mass.; Terrebonne Parish Waterworks No. 1 in Louisiana; Grand Forks, N.D.; and Tucson, Ariz.

EPA Administrator Russell E. Train had ordered the survey last Nov. 8 and Wednesday's announcement named the 80 cities selected in consultation with state water supply officials.

In 70 cities EPA will test for the presence of six specific chemicals called volatile organics, some of which may be formed by chlorination, a common method of disinfection. A detailed testing for a wider range of organic chemicals would make up the more comprehensive 10-city study.

"Within a few months we will have some definite answers about the extent and seriousness of the presence of these organic compounds in our nation's drinking water systems," Train said.

The EPA survey selections were announced just one day after President Ford signed the Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974, directing EPA TO set health standards for drinking water and to report to Congress within six months.

Grandma Wins $300,000

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Jacquelyne C. Hall, a Dayton grandmother, won the $300,000 grand prize in the Ohio lottery's Buckeye 300 drawing today and said she would use part of the money in helping the needy.

She actually was $300,000.01 richer after the draw. Someone in the crowd found a penny on the ground and gave it to her just before the drawing was made.

"This is my lucky penny," she said. Mrs. Hall, who has two children and two grandchildren, has been helping needy people on a regular basis most of her life.

The $60,000 second prize went to Carl D. Augustine of Malta and $30,000 went to Merritt Q. Colton of Union.

The other five contestants in the draw each won $15,000. They were Sally I. Antral, Barberton; James J. Schroeder, Lima; Gerald E. Roth, Defiance; Ralph M. Nicastro, Warren, and Ralph E. Gang, Salem.

Mass Slaying Suspect Dies In Shootout

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Paul John Knowles, charged with seven murders in three states, was shot to death when authorities said he grabbed a gun and tried to escape from a police car. His lawyers claim he was executed.

Authorities said the 28-year-old Florida native was killed Wednesday as he drove with two officers to show them where he had disposed of a gun allegedly used to murder a Florida state trooper.

Douglas County Sheriff Earl D. Lee said he and Ron Angel, an inspector for the Georgia Bureau of Investigation, were escorting Knowles when their prisoner got free from his handcuffs. Authorities later said he had picked the lock, possibly with a paper clip.

Knowles reached over the seat and "jerked my sidearm from the holster," Lee said. He said he grabbed Knowles' hand and the gun went off. As the car swerved off the highway, several more shots were fired "which resulted in the death of Paul John Knowles." Lee did not say who fired the fatal shots.

Knowles' two Miami lawyers rejected the official explanation and headed for Atlanta today to discuss the incident with authorities.

"The least they could have done was to wait until he was convicted to execute him," said attorney Ellis Rubin.

"I can't believe he attempted to escape," said attorney Sheldon Yavitz. "He didn't want to die. Where would he go with chains on?"

Knowles, arrested Nov. 17 in rural Georgia, had been charged in Georgia with killing a Florida state trooper and a Delaware businessman, a Milledgeville, Ga., man and his teen-aged daughter; a Lima, Ohio, accountant in that state; and women in Jacksonville Beach and Atlantic Beach, Fla.

Virginia Tech Edges OSU, 72-71

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Virginia Tech's Gobblers made the most of costly Ohio State turnovers and the exit of Bill Andreas with a knee injury Wednesday night and emerged with a 72-71 interstate basketball victory.

Andreas, hurt late in the first half after scoring nine points, sat out the second and watched as the visiting Virginians broke open an attempted Buckeye stall with about three minutes left on the clock.

Virginia Tech, trailing 68-57, scored 12 straight points to overtake Ohio State, 69-68, and go ahead for the first time. Larry Cooke and Dave Sensibaugh had key baskets after stealing the ball from the slowed down OSU team.

Russell Davis, the Gobblers' 6-foot-5 forward, calmly laid in a pair of free throws to clinch the victory after being fouled by Mark Bayless with seconds left.

Elsewhere, Toledo came off losses to highly ranked Indiana and Marquette by belting California State at Hayward 97-61 on the Rockets' home court.

It was a warmup for Toledo's Mid-American conference opener Saturday night at Eastern Michigan.

Jim Brown, Toledo's 6-foot-9 center, scored a career high 36 points and pulled down 19 rebounds to lead both teams in that department. Stan Williams had 16 points to pace the Pioneer scorers.

Toledo won the game on the backboards. The Rockets nabbed a total of 65 rebounds, compared to only 26 for the shorter Californians.

In Cincinnati Xavier lost to Morehead 68-63. Contributing to the loss were 18 fouls called against the Cincinnati team in the second half compared with six against Morehead.

Southern Cal Team Tougher, Hayes Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Woody Hayes is saying little about Southern California, but concedes Ohio State's Rose Bowl football opposition is improved over a year ago.

The explosive coach of the Buckeyes, who takes a 60-man squad to the West Coast Friday, said, "They (Southern California) are better defensively this year. They are a great team."

"I'm not going to say anything else about them," he said before the Big Ten co-champions wound up their home practices today.

Ohio State will practice nine times on the West Coast preparing for a third straight shot at the Pac-8 champions on the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

Southern Cal won two years ago 42-14 and Ohio State prevailed last time 42-21.

Hayes, leading his seventh Rose Bowl team in 24 seasons, said of his 10-1-0 squad, "We're a little more versatile, but our defense wasn't as good until the last game."

In the finale, the Buckeyes edged Michigan 12-10 to share the conference title with the Wolverines for the third successive season.

Hayes attributes his team's yield of 111 points to a rash of injuries. "We had six or seven regulars out at one time or another," he said.

The latest injury struck All-American center-guard Steve Myers in practice this week. The 6-foot-2, 244-pound senior broke his right wrist in the same spot for the second time this season.

"He will play," Hayes said of Myers, "and you can be certain of that. He'll play damned well, too."

Myers has swapped positions again with right guard Dick Mack. The two pulled the same maneuver for five games of the regular season. Myers

12 New Faces In Pro Bowl This Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Twelve National Football Conference players, including St. Louis quarterback Jim Hart and Dallas receiver Drew Pearson, will be making their first appearance in this season's Pro Bowl.

Hart and Pearson, both having glittering seasons, were among those named Wednesday to the NFC's all-star team that will meet the AFC in Miami's Orange Bowl next January 20.

In addition to Hart and Pearson, the first-timers include, center Jeff Van Note of Atlanta; middle linebacker Bill Bergey of Philadelphia; receiver Mel Grey, tackle Dan Dierdorf and running back Terry Metcalf, all of St. Louis; guard Blaine Nye and free safety Cliff Harris, both of Dallas; defensive tackle Diron Talbert of Washington; cornerback Willie Buchanan of Green Bay and return specialist-safety Dick Jauron of Detroit.

Of the 12 new faces, Hart, Pearson, Van Note and Bergey will be in the starting lineup.

In addition to the 12 first-time selectees, six other players who were not on last year's NFC squad were chosen for the 40-man roster. There are 22 repeaters from last year's team.

The squad is chosen in balloting among the 13 NFC coaches, with none allowed to vote for players on his own team.

The AFC leads in the series, 5-1. The NFC won the inaugural game 27-6 in Los Angeles, but the AFC has won three straight times.

The only Rose Bowl game played outside Pasadena, Calif., took place at Durham, N.C., in 1942. Oregon State trimmed Duke 20-16.

Essex Johnson Still Unknown Factor

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Next year's status for Cincinnati Bengals running back Essex Johnson remained uncertain after the veteran player underwent a second knee operation Tuesday in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Johnson, who gained 996 yards in 1973, underwent knee surgery earlier following an injury in the Bengals' playoff loss that year to Miami Dolphins.

Cleveland Browns

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Cleveland Browns, who just completed one of the worst seasons in their history, had two members named Wednesday to play in the National Football League Pro Bowl.

The two were defensive tackle Jerry Sherk and running back Greg Pruitt.

Teays Valley, Logan Elm Hope To Keep League Leads

Teays Valley and Logan Elm will both be battling to retain their shared league leads when they take to the basketball courts Friday night.

Teays Valley will travel to Dublin to take on the hapless Shamrocks in Metro League action, and Logan Elm will be in the McDowell gym against awesome Mid-State co-leader Canal Winchester.

Westfall will not play in the Scioto Valley Conference until next year.

Teays Valley, still reeling from an 84-78 loss at the hands of Franklin Heights last week, is locked with the Falcons, Olentangy, and Hamilton Twp. for the league lead with 3-1 records.

And it's a real scramble for the lead.

TV gave Olentangy its lone setback, Olentangy marred Franklin Heights' record, and Grandview dumped Hamilton Twp. But both the Vikes and Braves have beaten Grandview.

Coach Bob Hoover's Viking crew is averaging nearly 75 points a game in the four Metro tilts, but their defense is somewhat suspect as they have allowed 66, second worst in the league.

Terry Collins, with a 17.7 average in the league, leads the Vikings offensively. He gets double figure support from Chuck Glitt (13.2), Lee Stiles (12.5), and Kevin Pettibone (11).

Dublin, 1-3 in the league and 1-5 overall, have a 54-53 win over Marysville on their log.

The Shamrocks, however, are having troubles at both ends of the floor. They are only hitting 49 points in league games, while allowing their opponents 65.

Bob Townsend, averaging 22.5 points in the Metro, is their leading scorer and only player averaging in double figures.

Here are the Metro standings, leading scorers, and team averages after the first four league games:

Things should really be hopping in the McDowell Gym Friday night when the best offensive team in the Mid-State, Canal Winchester, goes against the premier defensive unit, Logan Elm, for the undisputed league lead.

Both are 3-0.

If Logan Elm is going to do anything in the game, they must thwart the Indian effort to get 91 points. In the three league wins and one non-league tilt, CW has scored 91. However, opposing teams have scored 65.6 points on Canal.

Logan Elm, on the other hand, is allowing only 53.3 points a game, while scoring at 68.3 in the three games.

Canal's most notable offensive performer is Jeff Black, second in the league in scoring with a 29 points-a-game average. "Dog" Duckworth is scoring about 14 a game, and Canal gets more help from Phil Steube.

Scott Pontius, scoring 15 points a game in the league, is LE's scoring leader. Jeff Reichelderfer has 10.6 a game, and Mike Miller 10.

And the Logan Elm pressure defense is capable of doing the job. Against Bloom-Carroll Tuesday, they limited Bill Black to three points. He had been averaging 21 a game.

Here are the Mid-State standings, top 10 scorers, and team averages after three games:

Bill Nelsen Eyes Post With Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Bill Nelsen says it was only coincidence that he resigned as quarterback coach of the New England Patriots one day after it was announced that the Cleveland Browns were looking for a new head coach. But Nelsen says he has made it clear he's available should the call come from Browns' owner Art Modell.

"I'll be looking," says Nelsen, a former Browns quarterback. "I wouldn't rule out the possibility that even if I weren't offered the head coaching job in Cleveland that I could come back as an offensive coordinator."

Duke's football team scored 105 points in ten 1973 games. In 1974 the Blue Devils had 117 points in their first five games.

Grid Picker Sees Oakland Win

NEW YORK (AP) — The countdown for Super Bowl IX begins for real Saturday and all roads lead to New Orleans.

Meanwhile, the paths lead to Oakland and Minnesota this Saturday and Pittsburgh and Los Angeles on Sunday.

Then the stops should be at Oakland and Minnesota.

But don't count on it, because the old Pro Pigsaw Picker is still picking up the pieces from a disastrous regular season, in which the count was 120-61-1 for .663. The final week's showing was nine correct calls and four incorrect.

So all aboard for Oakland and Minnesota:

Komets Rip Des Moines In IHL, 5-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Brian Walker was a busy hockey player Wednesday night.

The Fort Wayne skater scored two goals and assisted on three others as the Komets swept past Des Moines 5-2 in International Hockey League play. Pat Russell and Cam Botting scored the Capitals' goals, but their efforts were not good enough to touch the 3-0 lead held by Fort Wayne after one period. The lead was stretched to 4-1 after the second period.

In other games, Dayton and Flint played to a 4-4 tie and Columbus topped Muskegon 4-2.

Doug Manchak of Flint and Steve Self of Dayton turned in twin performances, each scoring two goals and getting credit for an assist in the tie game.

The tie keeps Dayton in first place in the IHL's Southern Division with a record of 20-7-2. Flint is 19-9-3.

Columbus never trailed, thanks to two goals from center Ed Kenty.

Muskegon did manage to tie the score at 2-2 in the second period on shots by Bill Kestell and Pat DeMarchi, but Owls winger Harry Casey put in what turned out to be the winning goal in the final period.

Islanders, North Stars Both Losers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The New York Islanders took their National Hockey League road show to Buffalo and laid another egg Wednesday night while the Minnesota North Stars flopped on Broadway.

The Islanders lost to the Buffalo Sabres 3-2, the 15th time in a row they've failed to win away from home. Meanwhile, the North Stars bombed in New York, losing to the Rangers 7-0, and extended their winless road skein to 16 games.

Elsewhere, the Los Angeles Kings shelled the Kansas City Scouts 6-0, the Montreal Canadiens edged the California Seals 4-3, the Chicago Black Hawks outscored the Detroit Red Wings 7-5 and the Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the Pittsburgh Penguins 6-4.

In the World Hockey Association, the Quebec Nordiques whipped the Winnipeg Jets 5-1 and the Phoenix Roadrunners toppled the Vancouver Blazers 5-3.

the Chinese but it looks like the year of the Raiders in the American Football Conference. With Ken Stabler throwing to Fred Biletnikoff and Cliff Branch, and a defense that includes such stalwarts as Otis Sistrunk, Phil Villapiano and Jack Tatum, the Oakland Raiders can match anything that the Dolphins have — except back-to-back Super Bowl titles.

That's not to say the Dolphins don't have plenty. They do. Just ask the teams they beat this year.

Most of all, however, the Raiders have George Blanda. So, let's say ... RAIDERS 27, DOLPHINS 21.

ST. LOUIS (10-4) at MINNESOTA (10-4): They kept saying, back on Nov. 11, that the Viking-Cardinal clash could be a prelude to the first round of the National Conference playoffs. And sure enough, it was.

The Vikings, behind Fran Tarkenton, won that game 28-24. And it wasn't as close as the score indicated ... VIKINGS 27, CARDINALS 17.

BUFFALO (9-5) at PITTSBURGH (10-4): The Bills have come a long way, but not quite far enough to get past the Pittsburgh defense, which has Mean Joe Greene among other things. Buffalo may be able to match the Steeler running game, however, but that won't be enough.

And did you know that Steeler quarterback Terry Bradshaw and Buffalo quarterback Joe Ferguson both come from the same hometown, and both played for the same high school? It's Shreveport, La., and the school was Woodlawn. Anyway ... STEELERS 31, BILLS 20.

WASHINGTON (10-4) at LOS ANGELES (10-4): Two weeks ago the Redskins beat the Rams 23-17 in Los Angeles. It was a "must" game then for Washington, but didn't mean anything to Los Angeles, which already had its division title wrapped up.

This time it's for keeps. And the final score should be ... RAMS 24, REDSKINS 21.

ABA Franchise For Cincy Readied

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — American Basketball Association Commissioner Tedd Munchak said he is ready to sign a lease agreement "within a few days" for an ABA franchise here.

But the lease agreement will probably be delayed because of legal problems with the owners of the Louisville Colonels and the Cincinnati Coliseum still under construction.

21 Teams Seeking 'Catfish'

OAKLAND (AP) — Twenty-one major league baseball teams have their lures out for Jim "Catfish" Hunter. Twenty want to sign him and one wants to keep him.

And the teams trying to reel in the Catfish got the green light Wednesday from Alameda County, Calif., Superior Court ... at least until Jan. 3.

While one team after another was burning up the telephone lines to Hunter's lawyers in Ahoskie, N.C., Judge Spurgeon Avakian refused to grant Charles O. Finley a temporary restraining order that would have prevented the clubs from making Hunter offers he might not be able to refuse.

However, Avakian set Jan. 3 for a hearing of the case on its merits.

In refusing to grant the temporary restraining order, Avakian said:

"I don't think realistically any club will sign him with the court action still pending. I also think Hunter would want to wait to get the most he probably could out of any contract. I don't see enough basis to challenge the arbitration in the meantime."

On Monday, a three-man arbitration panel decided that Finley had failed to live up to a contract agreement with Hunter and ruled the star pitcher of the world champion Oakland A's a free agent. Hunter took his case to arbitration after the World Series, claiming Finley had failed to place $50,000 in a special deferred fund.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn has ruled that no team can sign Hunter until midnight Sunday. However, 12 teams contacted Hunter's lawyers within three hours after the legal bidding war for his pitching services started at 9 a.m., EST, Wednesday. They were the New York Yankees, New York Mets, Kansas City Royals, Philadelphia Phillies, Montreal Royals, Atlanta Braves, Cleveland Indians, California Angels, Cincinnati

Cleveland Crusaders Recall 2 Players

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Rookie center John Stewart and defenseman Ron Anderson were recalled Wednesday by the Cleveland Crusaders.

The two were to rejoin the parent organization in Detroit today for a World Hockey Association contest with the Michigan Stags.

Stewart and Anderson had been playing with Cape Cod of the North American Hockey League.

Northwestern's football team includes three sets of twins. They are Ron and Randy Kuceyeski, Rob and Randy Dean and Carl and Joe Patrnochak.

Reds, Detroit Tigers, Pittsburgh Pirates and Boston Red Sox.

"We are making appointments to discuss the contract starting Thursday," said Joe Flythe, a partner in

Tribe Signs Gaylord Perry, Eyes Hunter

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Indians signed one top-flight pitcher Wednesday and jumped into a furious bidding war for the services of another.

Gaylord Perry, who had his fourth season with 20 or more victories last year, said Wednesday he was happy with a two-year "contract I can live with."

Other sources reported his salary would be $150,000 a year.

Meanwhile, General Manager Phil Seghi said he and Indians operating chief Ted Bonda would meet with Jim "Catfish" Hunter this weekend in Ahoskie, N.C.

Perry, who lives about 35 miles from Hunter, also was to talk to Hunter about joining the Tribe, the Indians said.

Hunter, top hurler in the American League last year, was declared a free agent Monday in a history-making baseball arbitration ruling. He is free to offer his services to the highest bidder.

The ruling said Oakland Athletics owner Charles Finley had failed to honor all terms of Hunter's contract for the 1974 season. Finley is expected to file suit to have the verdict set aside.

Perry, a former Cy Young award winner, said he signed his contract Wednesday.

"I'm relaxed and looking forward to playing a few more years with the Indians," Perry said.

The 36-year-old right-hander caused a furor last season when he insisted publicly he get $1 a year more in salary than new manager Frank Robinson.

In American League records, Perry's 2.51 earned-run average and 28 complete games placed him second in those categories. He was third in innings pitched with 322 and fourth in strikeouts with 216.

He won 15 games in a row last year after losing his first.

He and his brother, Jim, shared man of the year honors awarded by the Cleveland chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

the law firm of Cherry, Cherry, Flythe and Evans. "He's not signing with anyone until we've had discussions with all teams showing interest."

Eight more clubs got into the act Wednesday afternoon but it was not disclosed which ones. However, two of the four teams which haven't been heard from — all teams have until Saturday to enter the race — are the A's and the Baltimore Orioles, American League East Division champs.

The Orioles have a club policy against multiple-year contracts and Hunter's lawyers told General Manager Frank Cashen one of the prime considerations being sought by the pitcher is a multi-year contract.

Hunter said he hoped to pick his new team — the courts permitting — by early next week.

"I'd like to give myself and my family a nice Christmas present," he said. "I want a cash bonus and I want a good salary and I want a guarantee that my family will be protected financially for the rest of their lives."

Hunter said he believes the bidding will go over $1 million.

Gold May Prove Faulty Investment

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

To buy or not to buy? That is the question facing potential gold buyers now that Americans are about to be able to own gold.

The soaring price of the metal over the past six years led many consumers to believe — wrongly — that they couldn't lose money by buying gold.

Since 1968, when gold was first allowed to fluctuate from its $35-an-ounce level, the price has more than quadrupled. It hit $100 an ounce in April 1973. Earlier this year, the price went up to about $170 an ounce, down to about $140 and back up to $190. It has slipped a bit, but is still selling for about $170 to $180 an ounce.

In a time of inflation and shrinking dollars, what better way to save?

Financial analysts, government officials and some economists are warning Americans, however, that there are serious risks. The price can go down again just as it went up; unscrupulous dealers are waiting to prey on unknowing consumers — the Justice Department already is investigating reports of schemes to sell lead bars disguised as gold; and gold does not pay any interest or dividends.

The people who will be selling gold are reluctant to predict what will happen to the price. They don't want to be accused of misleading people and influencing the market by their statements.

Engelhard Minerals & Chemicals Corp., which is refining and processing gold for sale through banks and other outlets, advises potential investors: "Although the outlook for gold in the near future is promising, caution should still be exercised.... Gold prices will continue to fluctuate...."

Economists at New York's First National City Bank, the nation's second largest bank, says:

"Despite the current upsurge in the demand for gold, the precious metal is losing some of its glitter and is headed for a fall," the bank said earlier this year.

Banks, stock brokerages and other agencies that will sell gold are still working out the final details of their fee scales.

Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc., the stock brokerage firm, announced recently that its mark-up would range from about 3 to 6 per cent. The company plans to charge $2 per ounce, plus 5 per cent of the first $5,000 in value and 2 per cent on any amount over $5,000.

Here's how it would work on a five-ounce purchase — the minimum Merrill Lynch has set for retail sales:

Suppose the price of gold is $180 an ounce. You would pay $900 for the gold plus $10 in per-ounce charges and $45 as 5 per cent of the total value of the metal. That's a total expenditure of $955, including a markup of just over 6 per cent.

This will not count fees for shipping, insurance and applicable sales taxes if the customer wants to take delivery. Merrill Lynch said it will store customers' gold free of charge during 1975 and will repurchase the gold without charging an additional assay or inspection fee.

Anyone who wants to make a profit on gold must remember that the basic price of the metal must go up enough for him to recover the fees he paid in buying it. Then he has to find a buyer. He also has to take into account the fact that if he has taken possession of the gold, the new buyer probably will want an assay to prove the metal has not been tampered with. That can cost from $30 to $100, depending on the amount and form of gold involved.

If the price rises sharply, the gold investor will make a profit. If you bought 100 ounces of gold last December when the price was about $110 an ounce and you paid fees comparable to those Merrill Lynch is charging, plus insurance and other charges totaling 20 per cent, you would have laid out $13,200. Today, with gold selling at between $170 and $180 an ounce, the metal is worth between $17,000 and $18,000.

But a sharp increase depends on several factors, particularly:

—A lack of faith in other investments, including the stock market and savings accounts.

—A belief that other people will continue to want gold and therefore will keep demand, and price, high.

—Industrial demand for gold to use in things like manufacturing and electronics.

Remember, too, that until 1968, the price of gold was frozen by world agreement. From 1934 until 1968, it was set at $35 an ounce. This limited the demand for gold as a speculative investment. When the lid was removed and the price was allowed the float, there was an immediate boost. There is no guarantee the rise will continue.

The government already has acted to prevent an immediate and sharp surge in gold prices by announcing that it will auction two million ounces of gold on Jan. 6. The government hopes that by making additional gold available, it can ease the demand and keep the price from skyrocketing.

Alan C. Poole, an analyst at the Wall Street firm of Laidlaw-Coggeshall Inc. and an expert on gold and gold stocks, says investing in gold is like buying real estate with an eye toward later development.

"I feel very strongly it's a long-term investment," Poole says.

Sneek-A-Peek

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

An old legend says that on Christmas Eve the animals are given the gift of speech. In gratitude to farm animals for giving their warm home to the Christ Child, many people remember animals in a special way at this season.

You will, of course, give your cat a catnip mouse and hang up a rubber bone for the dogs with your children's stockings. At Tasha Tudor's farm in New Hampshire, the renowned illustrator prepares special treats for barnyard creatures. In her lovely book, "Take Joy" she describes the preparation of tasty foods for the cows and horses and even hot mash for the geese and turkeys.

The "Junior Science Book of Bird Life" tells the various ways of feeding birds that winter in Ohio. In most cases, birds eat scraps readily available from our kitchens. Raisins, crackers, and peanut butter make a delicious seedball to hang on your tree. Cracked corn, sunflower seeds and suet may have to be purchased. Birds will even eat eggshells which contain that vital element, calcium.

"Where They Go In Winter" has a wealth of information about wildlife. Some animals stay with us but just aren't visible while hibernating. Chipmunks may awaken and feed in their underground dens but usually they stay asleep until spring.

The dauntless squirrels venture out on all but the coldest days. Bounding over the snow, they hunt acorns they buried last autumn. Their sense of smell locates food even under deep snow. And, if you destroy the spider's egg sacs now, you will have fewer spiders to cope with next spring. Some species do not hibernate but may be living a cozy life in your basement right now.

"The Wolf" by Dr. Michael Fox, a veterinarian, is an interesting account of the wolves' family life, especially the parents' devotion to their cubs. These hearty animals must adjust to winter by learning to conserve their energy in the snow. The father and mother must do a good job of teaching survival techniques to insure their cubs' life.

Bears come to mind when one is talking of hibernating animals. "The Moon of the Bears" describes beautifully the preparation of the cave for the mother bear's winter sleep. At the end of the hibernation period, new cubs are born. Quietly they eat and sleep in their den until spring calls them to the outside world.

What is Christmas without reindeer? Reindeer or domesticated caribou have been used by the Laplanders in Finland as beasts of burden for years. For fun, Lap's train them also to pull sleds called pulkas which are beautifully decorated. Reindeer driving is a popular sport as these agile animals are high spirited and quick for their size.

Don't lament the past summer and autumn's passing; learn to appreciate winter's beauty.

American Colleges Seeking Oil Money

NEW YORK (AP) — With dollars tight at home, American universities are beginning to look to Mideast oil companies for gifts and money to support special programs.

The University of Southern California recently received $1 million from Iran for a special professorship in petroleum engineering. George Washington University received $1 million from Iran for a professorship in multinational management.

"Many universities are presently zeroing in on support from the oil-producing countries," said Charles Thompson, a development officer at Harvard University. "We are exploring the feasibility and possibility of support from certain countries over there."

Harvard has not received any money from the Arab countries, Thompson said. But faculty members with expertise in Middle East affairs are consulted regularly by countries there and "these consultations naturally lead to further discussions."

Multi-million dollar gifts from Japan and West Germany made campus fund raisers aware in recent years of the possibilities overseas.

The Japanese government gave $10 million for Japanese studies programs at 10 American universities. The Krupp Foundation of West Germany gave Harvard $2 million for European studies programs.

College presidents and professors now are dispatched regularly to capitals abroad. Private universities are doing most of the pitching, but public institutions are also looking for money overseas.

The University of Michigan sent a member of its Near Eastern Studies faculty to Kuwait and Saudi Arabia last summer.

"It was just an exploratory visit to talk with people," said Michael Radock, vice president for university development — the term used now for fund raising.

Campus fund raisers looking for money from the Arab states say they are aware of the possible political ramifications of such gifts. All say that Arab money must come with no strings attached.

"What we are seeking is the kind of support that is not a propaganda-type activity," said Radock.

Another area of sensitivity which none of the fund raisers would talk about on the record is the possibility that accepting Arab money might turn off important Jewish or pro-Israeli contributors.

Woman Fined For False Info

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Warren woman who coordinated the Trumbull County campaign of U.S. Sen.-elect John Glenn has been convicted of giving false testimony at a state hearing.

Judge Charles R. Petree Wednesday ordered Elizabeth M. McGown to pay a $100 fine plus court costs, then suspended the fine.

She was charged with a minor misdemeanor as a result of testimony she gave at a secretary of state's hearing on allegations about unsigned bumper stickers.

Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, whose office investigated at the request of Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, said his probe of election activities is continuing.

Screwdriver 'Weapon' Case Killed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Engineer Henrich Gusek wants to clear his record after being charged with a felony, carrying a concealed weapon—a screwdriver.

The charge against Gusek of Valley Stream, N.Y., was dismissed Wednesday after the prosecution claimed a lack of evidence.

Gusek was arrested Dec. 6 for attempting to board an airliner at Port Columbus International Airport with the screwdriver in his pocket.

"I'd like to get the record cleared up, totally erased," said the 36-year-old Gusek.

Normally his arrest record would remain on file with local police. However, the municipal judge who heard his case said he would consider a motion to expunge the record.

Gusek was taken into custody by airport security officers after failing three times to pass a metal detector test.

Gusek contends he placed the screwdriver in his pocket while working on some equipment at a nearby plant and left it in his pocket as he was traveling.

Corps Wins Financing For Bridge

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate conferees have agreed to authorize additional financing to permit the Army Corps of Engineers to proceed with the Markland bridge project across the Ohio River.

The agreement came during a meeting to work out differences in federal highway-aid bills.

The Army engineers have authority under existing legislation to contract up to $3.7 million to erect the bridge over the dam, but the project was postponed by the corps because the amount was insufficient.

At the request of Kentucky Republican Rep. Gene Snyder, whose 4th District includes the bridge site, the House Public Works Committee provided an additional $2.5 million in contracting authority in the new legislation.

During the conference session Tuesday, the Senate members accepted the House position. The agreement virtually assures the corps that it can proceed with call for construction bids in early 1975.

The bridge, when completed, will provide the only Ohio River bridge crossing in the 55-mile stretch between Madison, Ind., and Cincinnati.

Gap Between Rich And Poor Seen Ominous

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth instalment of a five-part Christmas series, "Partner of the Poor." This article deals with the values of sustaining the poor as seen in Biblical teachings and by many modern authorities, the "Hope in Helping."

By GOERGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

A small, blue-green planet called the earth hurtles through space and time, its resources vast yet finite, its creatures numerous and multiplying, seeking and learning, pursuing fullness of life. Yet a few grasped most of the planet's immense goods, while its many inhabitants went famished and without.

In the infinitude through which the universe develops, on the cosmic scales by which it is measured, the eternal creator and assayer of its potential growth toward maturity saw its lurching unsteadiness, the dangerously unbalanced condition of his creatures, and concluded:

Sustaining "the least" of them was necessary to serve the whole; as the weakest are helped, so is the effect on all, on creative being itself. "As you did it to one of the least of these my brethren, you did it to me."

That upholding of "the least," as Jesus described it, was the ultimate test of human integrity and advance, the overarching, determining fundamental of movement toward human health, the one hope of a world split into segments of overindulgence and desperation.

As portrayed by Jesus, it was God's assessment of the fate of mankind. "Before him will be gathered all the nations, and he will separate them one from another as a shepherd separates the sheep from goats, and he will place the sheep at his right hand, but the goats at the left."

"Then the King will say to those at the right hand, 'Come, O blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: for I was hungry and you gave me food, I was thirsty and you gave me drink, I was a stranger and you welcomed me, I was naked and you clothed me, I was sick and you visited me, I was in prison and you came to me.'"

"Then the righteous will answer him, 'Lord, when did we see thee hungry and feed thee, or thirsty and give thee drink? And when did we see thee a stranger and welcome thee, or naked and clothe thee? and when did we see thee sick or in prison and visit thee?'"

"And the King will answer them, 'Truly I say to you, as you did it to one of the least of these my brethren, you did it to me.'"

In a parallel, yet reverse way, he said, those that spurn the needs of the hungry, the thirsty, the naked, sick and imprisoned are banished from existence, for "as you did it not to one of the least of these, you did it not to me."

It is a disturbing yet instructive image for a planet swept by shadows of scarcities, flaring with intensified vying for fuel, fertilizer and food and a sudden buying rush on the planet's limited resources, a rush ruled by the highest bidders, those most able to pay, the wealthiest. And all around circle the empty, the ravenously hungry, multiplying horde of the poor. International experts see the situation as highly volatile, cracking with instabilities, like a ticking time-bomb.

A "time of extraordinary danger," says historian Elspeth Rostow. She says it portends disastrously massive starvation, social breakdowns and a spreading wave of disorder if the rich nations such as the United States withdraw into self-interest and "try to wrap our oceans around us."

Although Jesus' graphic illustration referred to the end of time, it also points to the currently seen potentialities either of mutually supportive human brotherhood or repercussions of ruin.

"We are at a critical watershed of history," says the Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame and board chairman of the Overseas Development Council. He says the world faces either a more equitable distribution of its goods and capabilities or engulfing upheavals and "injustices of monstrous proportions."

Both ballooning consumption by the rich and soaring population among the poor are seen as the main forces straining the earth's available resources. Economist James P. Grant says that in this squeeze, the world's affluent 1 billion, using its purchasing power, has begun preempting necessities of the poorest 1 billion leaving them in worsening want.

However, apart from social-economic development, it has been found that the poor resist birth-control programs, instinctively producing large numbers of offspring as a hedge against the heavy odds of dying, particularly among the young.

This has rendered birth-control efforts largely ineffective, except when accompanied by improved social-economic conditions, resulting in a continued upward spiral in population which at the present rate will double to around 7 billion by the century's end, mostly among the poor.

Major international efforts to improve their economic-social situation are seen as essential to moderate the population surge, thus checking that swelling claim on the earth's resources, while the effort to do so could at the same time temper the other drain on them — the rampant consumption of the affluent.

"A new social contract must emerge delineating the bond between the human race and the planet earth, the duties of the affluent toward the needy, and the mutual dependence of all members of the human community," says a joint study by the Aspen Institute and Yale Divinity School.

This interconnected, interlacing web of the world has emerged at an accelerating clip, impelled by the sheer facts of modern advances in communications, processing, transportation and commerce, so that the various parts increasingly affect all. It has reached a point at which "the unit of survival is the human race," says physiologist Hudson Hoagland.

"Interdependence, not independence, is the only way forward for the whole of civilization and all its parts, including the giants," says Lutheran theologian Carl E. Braatan. "America must find a formula for survival with others, or it will not survive at all."

In present circumstances, however, the richer 20 per cent of the world's people absorb 80 per cent of its total productivity, now approaching $4 trillion annually, four times what it was 25 years ago, and gaining by roughly 4 per cent annually.

Meanwhile, the other four-fifths of humanity — the vast multitude of the poor — struggle to survive on the fragmentary remains, less than the amount by which the richer nations increase their take each year. "The rich are getting richer, the poor poorer," says a Protestant-Catholic-Jewish confere of economic and relief specialists.

British economist Barbara Ward suggests that the richer nations, particularly the richest of them all, the United States, give a third of its normal $50 billion annual increase in gross national product toward developing poor nations. This would mean the rich still would be getting richer, only more slowly, she says, but at the same time could blunt the storm of widening starvation.

"If ever there were an apocalyptic moment, it is surely now," she writes, adding that affluent modern societies have the technology and agricultural sciences to replenish the earth if put to that purpose, but without which the world's deepening economic chasm can plunge it into overwhelming misery.

Despite the myth of American generosity, however, U.S. aid to poor regions in relation to gross national product has fallen steadily in the last two decades to less than that of most industrial nations, including Britain, Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands, Portugal, France, Australia and Japan.

U.S. food contributions to poor countries also have shrunk sharply in recent years as markets opened abroad because of shortages. Switching from giving to selling, U.S. export earnings on food grains jumped from $8 billion in 1972 to a projected $18 billion in 1974, $2 billion of it coming from poor countries, most of whom could not afford quadrupled costs of fertilizer to increase their own yields.

The U.S. and Canada dominate the world's vital grain production — 65 per cent of it — but the rising prices offered for it have diverted most of the share that used to go to the poor away from them and into profits. Noting that the U.S. controls more grain export than the Arabs do oil, Presbyterian Eugene Carson Blake says:

"We are the Arabs of the food crisis, and we cashed in before they did."

Church World Service, the Protestant-Orthodox relief agency, has suggested that the United States set a tithe on its foreign food exports, with a minimum 10 per cent being given to hungry lands, rather than continuing to shift it from relief to commercial profits because of market demand.

Bishop James S. Rausch, general secretary of the U.S. Catholic Conference, in a statement for U.S. bishops, says:

"When human beings starve and die because they lack a resource we predominantly control, the use of the law of the market as a sole means of distributing this resource has transgressed not only the standard of the gospel but also the minimal standards of responsible moral behavior."

Jesus told another story depicting the perils of the rich clinging to their goods while the poor are left without — a vivid portrayal whose implications had to do with life in the present world, and its ultimate future.

"There was a rich man, who was clothed in purple and fine linen and who feasted sumptuously every day," Jesus related. "And at his gate lay a poor man named Lazarus, full of sores, who desired to be fed with what fell from the rich man's table; moreover, the dogs came and licked his sores."

"The poor man died and was carried by the angels to Abraham's bosom. The rich man also died and was buried; and in Hades, being in torment, he lifted his eyes, and saw Abraham far off and Lazarus in his bosom."

"And he called out, 'Father Abraham, have mercy upon me, and send Lazarus to dip the end of his finger in water and cool my tongue; for I am in anguish in this flame.'"

"But Abraham said, 'Son, remember that you in your lifetime received good things, and Lazarus in

Elections Law Hearing Sought

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — State Rep. M. Joan Douglass, R-61, Mansfield, has requested a hearing before the Richland County Board of Elections on her charge that her Democratic opponent violated the law in the Nov. 5 election.

Mrs. Douglass, who lost her reelection bid by 2,138 votes to Sherrod Brown, contends Brown and his supporters distributed literature and campaigned inside the 100-foot flag limit election day.

The district includes the city of Mansfield and 12 northern Richland County townships. Mrs. Douglass did not demand a recount.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Mac Davis Show," which did well this summer as a hot weather substitute series, is returning tonight on NBC-TV as a winter mini-series of music and comedy appearing from now to mid-March.

I hate to give it a chilly reception, but the kindest thing one can say about the opening show is that it is totally undistinguished both in format and musical arrangements.

Davis, a young veteran songwriter and singer, has an appealing down-home way, but it's wasted in a Hollywood hack job of much flash and little good writing, pacing or editing.

Songwriter-singer Paul Williams, Connie Stevens and Paul Lynde are on hand to help him face the nation, but they, too, are largely misused in this hour of doze.

Davis, after an opening round of audience-joshing, kicks off the proceedings by singing "Stop and Smell the Roses."

He should have stopped and smelled the script, which propels him into a skit about a weary country singer on tour whose plane is fogged in and who must share a hotel room with a gabby fellow traveller.

The traveller (Lynde), upon seeing the snoozing balladeer, gripes that he has a first-class ticket, yet must share "a tacky hotel room with a dead cowboy."

Things go downhill after that, and aren't salvaged by a Williams-Davis medley of their favorite hits, nor by a rendition of "Stoney End" by Miss Stevens.

Quick, satirical blackout skits don't help either, nor does a long takeoff on "The Waltons," in which Lynde, cast as a miserly banker, meets "The Daltons," a dirt-poor Depression family.

Wait. There is one good line in "The Daltons." It occurs when the plug-ugly daughter (Kay Dingle) asks the banker: "Wanna fool around?" Cries he: "Has she had her shots yet?"

About the only time the show almost comes to life is when Davis seeks song titles offered by the audience — "Hot Night" and "Golf is a Four-Letter Word" are among those proposed — and he has some fun composing brief songs to match the titles.

He works well with an audience, but if future shows don't improve, he may not have one. Which would be a shame, because he's a good performer who deserves better support than he's now getting.

So much for grumbling. Now, let us urge you to watch a syndicated country music show called "Pop Goes the Country" should it ever pop up in the TV listings in your city.

Hosted by Ralph Emery, a disc jockey widely respected in the country music field, the program comes from Nashville, Tenn., and features at least two country stars per show.

While it has a small budget and a smaller band, it puts a lot of relaxed, easy enjoyment in the 30 minutes allotted it each week. It's fun to watch, and you don't hardly find that kind on TV any more.

Johann Sebastian Bach came from a family in which 53 members are known to have been musicians.

Ohio Layoffs Still Rising

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The number of Ohio workers furloughed or facing layoff after the first of the new year rose to 44,479 Wednesday with announcement that General Motors Corp. would cut back more jobs next month.

About 650 workers were scheduled to be laid off Jan. 20 at the Assembly Division plant at Lordstown, a GM spokesman said. In Dayton, Frigidaire Division was to release 514 employees Jan. 3.

Both layoffs were for indefinite periods, GM said.

The auto assembly plant was reducing production of Chevrolet Vegas and Pontiac Astres from 100 to 85 an hour, the spokesman said.

Frigidaire officials said it was necessary to bring inventories in line with sales and that duration of the layoffs in Dayton would depend on customer demand for appliances.

The Lordstown complex was to close for the Christmas holiday from Dec. 23 to Jan. 2. GM said 5,300 assembly division employees would be out of work again starting Jan. 13, when the lines are to be shut down again for one week.

All but 650 of the workers are scheduled to be recalled Jan. 20.

Rapist Sought In Cleveland Area

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A man who sexually assaulted four women in four days after stopping their cars with policelike flashing red lights was the target of a police alert Wednesday, authorities said.

In incidents Saturday, Sunday and Tuesday, the man turned off the lights, entered the woman's car and forced himself on her, police said. He left with each woman's identification papers, threatening to kill her if she went to police.

The attacks took place in Strongsville, Euclid, Mentor and Brunswick, officials said.

Group Can't Find Poor To Assist

NORTH CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The high cost of living may have cost the North Canton Social Service Committee its job.

The committee's cochairman, Mrs. Walter Zimmer, says the group can't find any needy persons in the North Canton School District to help.

"We don't know why," she said. "We're trying to find out."

The group, which serves only persons in the school district, was told by a welfare representative "that the rents are too high in North Canton," she said.

"He told us that when people get in bad straits, they move to Canton for cheaper rent," Mrs. Zimmer said.

She says the organization aided about 20 families a year between 1958 and 1970, then began to find it more difficult to locate truly needy ones. She said the committee has paid one family's electric bill this year and bought a pair of shoes for a needy child.

"We have some funds. We're not rich," she said. "We feel if we needed

News Pact Vote Slated

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Striking editorial employees at The Plain Dealer will vote Friday on a new contract that would end their 48-day walkout.

The pact, which is being submitted to employees without a recommendation from the Cleveland Newspaper Guild, was hammered out after 11 hours of negotiations late Wednesday and early today.

A spokesman for The Plain Dealer said that if the package is approved, publication could resume Sunday.

Jack Weir, executive secretary of the Cleveland Newspaper Guild, said the package does not increase the basic wages over a contract offer which guild members rejected by a 111-94 vote last week, but does include some changes including a better cost-of-living package.

something, we could get it just by asking for it as we have before—if it isn't too large."

The committee normally is supplied by the eight churches it represents.

"If we can't find anybody to help," she added, "at least we tried."
